Lebanese Partisans Clash

Hard Fighting Marks Eruption Of Family Feud

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Rebel and government partisans engaged in hard fighting in the north Lebanon town of Zegharta Monday, only three days before the scheduled election of new Lebanese president. Upon the election are pinned the hopes of many for peace in this strife-torn nation.

The fighting in Zegharta, four miles northeast of the coastal city of Tripoli, broke out Sunday night between two families—the Frangiyehas and the Duwaihys. They have had a long standing feud and the Duwaihys have lined up with the pro-Western government, the Frangiyehas with the rebels.

One member of the Duwaihys faction charged the Frangivehas were backed by a band of infiltrators from Syria and were using mortars brought in from that province of Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic. He said many buildings had been destroyed by fire from these mortars.

Casualties Not Estimated

The Duwaihys occupy hills overlooking the road to Tripoli to prevent the rebels sending reinforcements to the Frangiyehas, he went on. He was unable to estimate casualties.

Informants said there were no Lebanese security forces in the town because both families had insisted on settling their differences directly, without interference from the security forces.

A rebel spokesman in Tripoli denied any Syrians were taking part in the fight. He said the fighting was continuing.

The fighting in Zegharta added to the note of tension as zero hour approached for choosing a new president. If a candidate acceptable to both sides is chosen, Lebanon's 80-day-old crisis may end. If not, there may be new and a more serious round of trouble.

Marines Not Involved

Some shooting broke out in Capital Square near the main post office of Beirut. Otherwise the town seemed outwardly calm. So far American Marines have not been involved in any fighting.

The U.S. Embassy here denied a report that the automobile of U.S. presidential envoy Robert Murphy had been hit by a sniper's bullet. An embassy spokesman said there had been some exuberant firing by residents during a Murphy visit to northeast Lebanon but that Murphy's car was not hit. Murphy has been striving to bring peace for an orderly selection of a successor to President Camille Chamoun.

Eisenhower Turns Down New Demand

President Insists Any Huddle Follow U.N. Council Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower swiftly rebuffed Monday Soviet Premier Khrushchev's new demand for a special five-power summit conference outside the U.N. framework.

The White House made known the President's views less than four hours after Khrushchev fired off another letter, objecting to any summit parley within the 11-member U.N. Security Council in New York.

The White House comment appeared to deadlock Eisenhower and Khrushchev on terms for such a meeting, clouding the prospects of any kind of a get-together in the near future.

Ike Standing Firm

Press secretary James Hagerty made clear Eisenhower was standing firm on his insistence that any emergency Middle East talks be bound by the established rules of the U.N. Security Council.

"These views remain the same," Hagerty told newsmen. He said Eisenhower's proposals for bringing peace and tranquility to the Middle East were clearly outlined in the President's two letters to Khrushchev last week.

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), a U.N. delegate-designate, said he hopes Khrushchev's answer does not torpedo a summit meeting within the U.N. He said he doesn't believe the United States should agree at this time to any big power meeting outside the Security Council.

Humphrey's Reaction

Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D - Minn), a former delegate, said Khrushchev is "playing the propaganda game out to the end of the road, as we have given him every opportunity to do."

Sen. Homer Capehart (R-Ind), said the world could have no better illustration than in Khrushchev's series of letters that "he is all propaganda and no substance—he wants turmoil and not peace."

In his last message Friday, Eisenhower proposed the Security Council decide on the makeup and time of any parley. He served notice, however, that established Security Council rules must be followed, including the right to examine not only Mideast tension but the causes.

Dramatic Action Gives Alliance Shot In The Arm

LONDON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles Monday night committed the United States to defense of Iran, Turkey and Pakistan as a virtual partner in the Baghdad Pact.

The pact is being realigned to take into account the apparent loss of Iraq.

Dulles signed up after twice talking with President Eisenhower in Washington by telephone. American backing was thus pledged for security of Western-allied Moslem nations on or near the Soviet southern frontiers.

Automatically, the United States became more deeply involved in the Middle East than ever before.

U. S.-Pact Ties Strengthened

Without technically joining the pact, the United States virtually became a member through the new obligations undertaken in the declaration that Dulles signed with leaders of the four active members—Iran, Turkey, Pakistan and Britain.

With this dramatic stroke, the United States immensely increased the strength and power of the alliance weakened so badly after the violent overthrow of the pro-Western royal government of Iraq, the fifth member.

The late King Faisal's government had been the lone Arab keystone of the pact designed, among other things, to bar communism from the Middle East. His capital city of Baghdad originally gave the alliance its name.

Bilateral Agreements

A spokesman for Britain said: "We greatly welcome the strengthening of American ties with members of the Baghdad Pact organization."

The declaration provides that the United States will promptly enter into two-way agreements with Iran, Pakistan, Turkey and Britain.

Red Premier Wants Talks Outside U.N.

Urges Five-Power Meeting Be Held In European City

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev Monday rejected British-American proposals for a U.N. Security Council meeting in New York to arrange a summit conference on the Middle East. He urged five-power talks among heads of government be held in some European city, perhaps Moscow.

In sharply worded letters to President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Macmillan, Khrushchev accused them of trying to scuttle a summit meeting with protracted procedural discussions.

"The U.S. government is doing everything possible to frustrate the meeting of heads of government which is to put an end to the armed intervention in Lebanon and Jordan," he charged in his letter to the President.

"Consequently, you are not working for a settlement of the military conflict, which has begun in the Middle East . . . but for an expansion of the area of military conflict and confronting mankind with the threat of a world catastrophe."

U. S. Position Unchanged

(In Washington, a White House statement on Khrushchev's message said the United States still feels any Mideast summit conference should be held within the framework of the U.N. It said President Eisenhower's views remained the same—that arrangements for a summit conference should be left to the security council).

An immediate prevailing view at U.N. headquarters in New York was that Khrushchev's latest letter all but killed chances for a summit meeting now. Diplomats there commented with caution and with the provision that their names not be used.)

The net effect of the Khrushchev letters, it appeared to Moscow's diplomats, was to set back the chances of any summit conference.

The President's reluctance to visit the Soviet Union is well known here, and it was not believed Khrushchev's suggestion for a Moscow meeting could have been meant seriously.

Geneva, Paris, Vienna Suggested

Khrushchev said he was ready to meet with the heads of government in Moscow, Geneva, Vienna, Paris or any other place.

He was proposing a place in Europe, he said, because of reports among diplomats and American newspapers that New York police would have trouble protecting the heads of governments.

Moscow police, he said, could guarantee the security of a conference.

He reiterated his contention that there already is conflict in the Middle East because of American and British intervention in Lebanon and Jordan, and he declared the area was becoming more like a "powder barrel" every day.

There was, he said, an ever-increasing massing of American forces in Lebanon and the Mediterranean, "sabre - rattling" by King Hussein of Jordan threatening to march on Iraq, and widespread military preparations in Turkey.

President Asks Congress Hike Ceiling On Debt

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower asked Congress Monday to raise the permanent lid on the national debt to a peacetime peak of 285 billion dollars because of the outlook for continued heavy red-ink spending.

Coupled with this proposed 10-billion dollar hike in the permanent ceiling, he asked the lawmakers to raise the temporary debt limit by eight billion dollars to a new total of 288 billion — also a peacetime record.

Top congressional fiscal experts predicted the President probably would get his request for an eight billion dollar increase in the temporary ceiling. But they said the odds were against the full increase sought in the permanent level.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), powerful chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, withheld comment on the request until after Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson presents the administration's case before the House Ways & Means Committee on Wednesday.

The permanent debt ceiling now is 275 billion dollars. However, Congress only a few months ago temporarily raised the limit to 280 billion dollars for the duration of the current fiscal year which runs until next June 30.

But the President said in letters to Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Speaker Sam Rayburn that Anderson and Budget Director Maurice H. Stans had advised him the debt could not be trimmed back to 275 billion dollars by that deadline.

Weather Delays Blimp's Flight To North Pole

The Navy said the blimp may not get into the air again until Tuesday morning.

The 343-foot aircraft took off at South Weymouth, Mass., Sunday night in what it hoped would be a flight to Churchill, Canada. But bad weather forced it to detour to the naval air station here.

Destination of the ZPG2 type blimp is the ice island known as T-3, a floating weather station in the Arctic Ocean. A crew of 14 and scientists of the International Geophysical Year are making the trip to do arctic research.

Education Aid Bill Approved By Senate Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal aid-to-education program which would provide more than 20,000 college scholarships annually was approved by a Senate subcommittee Monday.

The bill is aimed chiefly at strengthening the nation's scientific brainpower by improving teaching methods and encouraging gifted students. It covers many of the recommendations made to Congress by President Eisenhower last January.

Sen. Lister Hill (D-Ala) said his full Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare will consider the legislation Wednesday. He predicted the Senate would pass the bill before Congress adjourns.

A similar bill has been approved by a House subcommittee and is now awaiting clearance by the House Rules Committee.

The Senate subcommittee left it up to the full committee to decide on the duration of the program. If the four-year period provided in the House bill is accepted the total cost would be about 1½ billion dollars.

A federal grant of money for about 23,000 college scholarships each year would be provided by both bills. The states would be given full control in awarding the scholarships.

The Senate group added 75 million dollars annually to improve teaching throughout the country. The House measure included funds for the improvement of science, mathematics and foreign language teaching. The Senate's addition would cover other subjects such as history and English.

Four Turkish Cypriots Slain

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI)—Four Turkish Cypriots were killed on Monday in a new wave of terror that swept riot - torn Cyprus.

Within five hours after the curfew was lifted at dawn, a 75-year-old man was shot dead outside his house in Nicosia and three Turks were killed in the western part of the island. The wife of one of them was wounded critically.

Another Turk was shot just outside Nicosia's city walls, and in southeast Cyprus a busload of Turkish - Cypriot police fought a gun battle with ambushers who stopped the vehicle with a bomb blast.

The wave of violence which continued from Sunday appeared to be the answer of the Greek underground organization EOKA to the mass arrest of nearly 2,000 Greek suspects by British authorities.

The underground told of its aims in a new leaflet which appeared in Nicosia Monday. A warning over the signature of EOKA leader Dighenis said the struggle for freedom "against the tyrants" would continue.

3 Sets Of Twins Born To Couple In 27 Months

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (UPI)—Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Murphy are running out of names and rooms after the birth of their third set of twins in 27 months.

Mrs. Judith Murphy, 20, gave birth to the latest set of twins last Friday. They joined Patty Colleen and Timothy Michael, born April 18, 1956, and Danny Ray and Debbie Kay, who came along July 11, 1957.

Right off, there was the problem of names. The Murphys had been expecting another boy - girl combination. Instead, it was two boys.

Then the 26-year-old Murphy began sizing up his fast-shrinking house, which has only two bedrooms. They're squeezing a bit until a GI loan comes through for a bigger house.

Code Of Ethics For FCC Given Probers' Okay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House influence investigators Monday approved legislation setting forth a "code of ethics" for the Federal Communications Commission as a result of their inquiry into the controversial award of TV channel 10 at Miami.

The group also scheduled a showdown vote Tuesday on proposals to cite Boston millionaire Bernard Goldfine for contempt of Congress. The textile tycoon, a friend of presidential assistant Sherman Adams, refused to answer 23 questions about his complex financial activities.

The FCC ethics code bill was approved without change after some subcommittee members sought unsuccessfully to extend its provisions to other federal regulatory agencies.

Several subcommittee members had planned to press for a vote Monday on a contempt citation against Goldfine. However, chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) said a one - day postponement was arranged to put absent members on "proper notice" it would be taken up.

A majority of the 11 subcommittee members have clearly indicated they will vote for the citation. Conviction for contempt of Congress carries a maximum penalty of one year in prison and a $1,000 fine on each count.

The Harris group acted on the FCC "code of ethics" at a two-hour closed meeting. The code had been the only item on the agenda until the contempt issue was raised.

Generally speaking, the proposed code would establish conduct standards for FCC commissioners and other employes of the agency in connection with pending cases.

It would prohibit outside contacts with commissioners or staff members about pending cases unless all interested parties were notified. It would permit the President to dismiss commissioners for neglect of duty or malfeasance—something he now is barred from doing.

D.C. Area Auto Firms Indicted

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal grand jury here Monday indicted 42 Washington area automobile dealers on charges on conspiring to fix retail prices for new cars and parts at artificially high levels.

Three indictments were returned, naming as defendants: All of the 17 franchised Ford dealers in the area and the Ford Motor Co.; all of the 14 franchised Chevrolet dealers and the Greater Washington Chevrolet Dealers Assn. Cooperative; and 11 franchised Oldsmobile dealers.

They were accused of violating sections of the Sherman Antitrust Act which provide for penalties upon conviction of up to one year imprisonment or $50,000 fine or both.

Man Spends 24 Years In Prison For $3 Robbery

CHICAGO (AP)—Virgil Baker, 42, was freed from Stateville Prison on Monday because of a judge's mistake after serving 24 years of a one-year-to-life sentence for a $3 robbery.

Harold P. O'Connell, Criminal Court chief justice, ruled that Baker had not been properly warned about the consequence of his guilty plea during his trial in December 1933.

Baker was sentenced by the late Judge Joseph B. David.

Death Toll May Reach 60 In Buenos Aires Floods

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Unofficial estimates placed the death toll as high as 60 Monday in the worst floods to hit Buenos Aires in 18 years. At least twenty five persons were reported injured and some 300 missing.

Government authorities would make no official statement on the number of homeless pending further investigation of the situation. The authoritative newspaper La Clarin estimated the number to be about 100,000.

The flood damage was expected to cost in the tens of millions of dollars and affect the lives of 500,000 persons.

Authorities said it might be some time before the final official death toll could be ascertained.

Muddy waters of the River Plate made their deepest inland penetration, about one and a quarter mile, at Beltran. At many riverside points flood waters were 12 feet deep.

A southeasterly gale which began Saturday night unleashed gusts of 60 miles an hour and pushed inland hugh masses of water from the river, swollen by heavy rains lasting 48 hours.

Moon Shot Planned Aug. 17

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—American missilemen plan to launch their first moon rocket Aug. 17, hoping that it will give them man's first look at the "dark side" of the lunar sphere.

Informed sources told United Press International the shot will require split-second timing. Scientists are still going over their calculations to verify that the planned launching time is correct.

The sources said the Air Force will fire a three-stage rocket soon after dawn on Sunday, Aug. 17. At that time the moon will have drawn as near as it ever does to the earth—about 220,000 miles.

If the rocket is aimed correctly and fired at a precise second, its last stage will reach the moon's field of gravity after two days or more and will circle the moon once and possibly several times.

Then, sources said, it will be subjected to the earth's gravitational pull and finally burn up when it re-enters the atmosphere.

If all goes well, scientists will have had the closest "look" they have ever had at the moon, including the "dark side" of the sphere which always faces away from the earth.

The rocket will be equipped with powerful radio transmitters hooked up to television - like "ground scanning" devices.

Missile men will not be able simply to blast the rocket off in a straight - line trajectory. The moon, like a flock of geese, is a moving target. But the hunter's task is simple by comparison.

The moon rocket will be launched into an orbit around the earth—but not the type of "clinging" orbit into which the satellites have gone.

Scientists have planned for the rocket to make larger and larger circles around the earth until it is caught in the gravitational pull of the moon.

Then, it is hoped, the rocket will orbit around the moon several times.

First Photos Of New 'Moon' Made In Peru

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Explorer IV, America's newest satellite, has been photographed for the first time in Peru, it was announced Monday night.

Dr. Karl G. Henize, Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory astronomer in charge of the world-wide network of satellite tracking camera stations, said a series of precision photographs were made Sunday night at Arequipa, Peru.

The Smithsonian moonwatch team photographed Explorer IV from 8:52 to 8:55 p.m. E.D.T., less than 34 hours after the satellite was launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Severe Storms Hit West Virginia Areas

The worst damage was reported by officials of the Appalachian Power Co., who said service was interrupted in the nearby Sissonville and Elkview areas for some two hours. They said high winds had knocked down several trees, some of which had ripped down power lines.

The U. S. Weather Station here, which had warned early in the afternoon that storms were expected, said a line of thunderstorms stretching from Connellsville, Pa., down through Fairmont, Glenville, Clendenin, Charleston, W. Va., and Whitesburg, Ky., would probably move out of the state by midnight.

Faubus Favored To Win Third-Term Nomination

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus, catapulted into international limelight by the Little Rock integration crisis, is favored to ride his prosegregation stand to a third-term victory in Tuesday's Democratic primary.

The governor, who blocked the entry of nine Negro students at Central High School until a federal injunction forced him to cease interfering with integration, could become the second man in the state's history to win a third term.

Not since Jeff Davis smashed the antithird-term tradition in the early 1860s, has a governor been able to override it.

Faubus, 48, must garner more than 50 per cent of the vote to win the Democratic nomination outright. Nomination is tantamount to election in this heavily Democratic state.

Faubus is opposed for nomination by Chris Finkbeiner, 37, a Little Rock packing house executive; and by Lee Ward, 51, a state court judge from Paragould.

They predict that a "silent vote" will force a runoff. They feel the bulk of this vote will come from persons fearful of opposing Faubus openly in the tense racial climate.

The Navy said the blimp may not get into the air again until Tuesday morning.

The 343-foot aircraft took off at South Weymouth, Mass., Sunday night in what it hoped would be a flight to Churchill, Canada. But bad weather forced it to detour to the naval air station here.

Destination of the ZPG2 type blimp is the ice island known as T-3, a floating weather station in the Arctic Ocean. A crew of 14 and scientists of the International Geophysical Year are making the trip to do arctic research.

Education Aid Bill Approved By Senate Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal aid-to-education program which would provide more than 20,000 college scholarships annually was approved by a Senate subcommittee Monday.

The bill is aimed chiefly at strengthening the nation's scientific brainpower by improving teaching methods and encouraging gifted students. It covers many of the recommendations made to Congress by President Eisenhower last January.

Sen. Lister Hill (D-Ala) said his full Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare will consider the legislation Wednesday. He predicted the Senate would pass the bill before Congress adjourns.

A similar bill has been approved by a House subcommittee and is now awaiting clearance by the House Rules Committee.

The Senate subcommittee left it up to the full committee to decide on the duration of the program. If the four-year period provided in the House bill is accepted the total cost would be about 1½ billion dollars.

A federal grant of money for about 23,000 college scholarships each year would be provided by both bills. The states would be given full control in awarding the scholarships.

The Senate group added 75 million dollars annually to improve teaching throughout the country. The House measure included funds for the improvement of science, mathematics and foreign language teaching. The Senate's addition would cover other subjects such as history and English.

Code Of Ethics For FCC Given Probers' Okay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House influence investigators Monday approved legislation setting forth a "code of ethics" for the Federal Communications Commission as a result of their inquiry into the controversial award of TV channel 10 at Miami.

The group also scheduled a showdown vote Tuesday on proposals to cite Boston millionaire Bernard Goldfine for contempt of Congress. The textile tycoon, a friend of presidential assistant Sherman Adams, refused to answer 23 questions about his complex financial activities.

The FCC ethics code bill was approved without change after some subcommittee members sought unsuccessfully to extend its provisions to other federal regulatory agencies.

Several subcommittee members had planned to press for a vote Monday on a contempt citation against Goldfine. However, chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) said a one-day postponement was arranged to put absent members on "proper notice" it would be taken up.

A majority of the 11 subcommittee members have clearly indicated they will vote for the citation. Conviction for contempt of Congress carries a maximum penalty of one year in prison and a $1,000 fine on each count.

The Harris group acted on the FCC "code of ethics" at a two-hour closed meeting. The code had been the only item on the agenda until the contempt issue was raised.

Generally speaking, the proposed code would establish conduct standards for FCC commissioners and other employes of the agency in connection with pending cases.

It would prohibit outside contacts with commissioners or staff members about pending cases unless all interested parties were notified. It would permit the President to dismiss commissioners for neglect of duty or malfeasance—something he now is barred from doing.

D.C. Area Auto Firms Indicted

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal grand jury here Monday indicted 42 Washington area automobile dealers on charges on conspiring to fix retail prices for new cars and parts at artificially high levels.

Three indictments were returned, naming as defendants: All of the 17 franchised Ford dealers in the area and the Ford Motor Co.; all of the 14 franchised Chevrolet dealers and the Greater Washington Chevrolet Dealers Assn. Cooperative; and 11 franchised Oldsmobile dealers.

They were accused of violating sections of the Sherman Antitrust Act which provide for penalties upon conviction of up to one year imprisonment or $50,000 fine or both.

Man Spends 24 Years In Prison For $3 Robbery

CHICAGO (AP)—Virgil Baker, 42, was freed from Stateville Prison on Monday because of a judge's mistake after serving 24 years of a one-year-to-life sentence for a $3 robbery.

Harold P. O'Connell, Criminal Court chief justice, ruled that Baker had not been properly warned about the consequence of his guilty plea during his trial in December 1933.

Baker was sentenced by the late Judge Joseph B. David.

3 Sets Of Twins Born To Couple In 27 Months

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (UPI)—Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Murphy are running out of names and rooms after the birth of their third set of twins in 27 months.

Mrs. Judith Murphy, 20, gave birth to the latest set of twins last Friday. They joined Patty Colleen and Timothy Michael, born April 18, 1956, and Danny Ray and Debbie Kay, who came along July 11, 1957.

Right off, there was the problem of names. The Murphys had been expecting another boy - girl combination. Instead, it was two boys.

Then the 26-year-old Murphy began sizing up his fast-shrinking house, which has only two bedrooms. They're squeezing a bit until a GI loan comes through for a bigger house.

Four Turkish Cypriots Slain

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI)—Four Turkish Cypriots were killed on Monday in a new wave of terror that swept riot-torn Cyprus.

Within five hours after the curfew was lifted at dawn, a 75-year-old man was shot dead outside his house in Nicosia and three Turks were killed in the western part of the island. The wife of one of them was wounded critically.

Another Turk was shot just outside Nicosia's city walls, and in southeast Cyprus a busload of Turkish - Cypriot police fought a gun battle with ambushers who stopped the vehicle with a bomb blast.

The wave of violence which continued from Sunday appeared to be the answer of the Greek underground organization EOKA to the mass arrest of nearly 2,000 Greek suspects by British authorities.

The underground told of its aims in a new leaflet which appeared in Nicosia Monday. A warning over the signature of EOKA leader Dighenis said the struggle for freedom "against the tyrants" would continue.

Moon Shot Planned Aug. 17

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—American missilemen plan to launch their first moon rocket Aug. 17, hoping that it will give them man's first look at the "dark side" of the lunar sphere.

Informed sources told United Press International the shot will require split-second timing. Scientists are still going over their calculations to verify that the planned launching time is correct.

The sources said the Air Force will fire a three-stage rocket soon after dawn on Sunday, Aug. 17. At that time the moon will have drawn as near as it ever does to the earth—about 220,000 miles.

If the rocket is aimed correctly and fired at a precise second, its last stage will reach the moon's field of gravity after two days or more and will circle the moon once and possibly several times.

Then, sources said, it will be subjected to the earth's gravitational pull and finally burn up when it re-enters the atmosphere.

If all goes well, scientists will have had the closest "look" they have ever had at the moon, including the "dark side" of the sphere which always faces away from the earth.

The rocket will be equipped with powerful radio transmitters hooked up to television-like "ground scanning" devices.

Missile men will not be able simply to blast the rocket off in a straight-line trajectory. The moon, like a flock of geese, is a moving target. But the hunter's task is simple by comparison.

The moon rocket will be launched into an orbit around the earth—but not the type of "clinging" orbit into which the satellites have gone.

Scientists have planned for the rocket to make larger and larger circles around the earth until it is caught in the gravitational pull of the moon.

Then, it is hoped, the rocket will orbit around the moon several times.

First Photos Of New 'Moon' Made In Peru

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Explorer IV, America's newest satellite, has been photographed for the first time in Peru, it was announced Monday night.

Dr. Karl G. Henize, Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory astronomer in charge of the world-wide network of satellite tracking camera stations, said a series of precision photographs were made Sunday night at Arequipa, Peru.

The Smithsonian moonwatch team photographed Explorer IV from 8:52 to 8:55 p.m. E.D.T., less than 34 hours after the satellite was launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Severe Storms Hit West Virginia Areas

The worst damage was reported by officials of the Appalachian Power Co., who said service was interrupted in the nearby Sissonville and Elkview areas for some two hours. They said high winds had knocked down several trees, some of which had ripped down power lines.

The U. S. Weather Station here, which had warned early in the afternoon that storms were expected, said a line of thunderstorms stretching from Connellsville, Pa., down through Fairmont, Glenville, Clendenin, Charleston, W. Va., and Whitesburg, Ky., would probably move out of the state by midnight.

Death Toll May Reach 60 In Buenos Aires Floods

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Unofficial estimates placed the death toll as high as 60 Monday in the worst floods to hit Buenos Aires in 18 years. At least twenty five persons were reported injured and some 300 missing.

Government authorities would make no official statement on the number of homeless pending further investigation of the situation. The authoritative newspaper La Clarin estimated the number to be about 100,000.

The flood damage was expected to cost in the tens of millions of dollars and affect the lives of 500,000 persons.

Authorities said it might be some time before the final official death toll could be ascertained.

Muddy waters of the River Plate made their deepest inland penetration, about one and a quarter mile, at Beltran. At many riverside points flood waters were 12 feet deep.

A southeasterly gale which began Saturday night unleashed gusts of 60 miles an hour and pushed inland hugh masses of water from the river, swollen by heavy rains lasting 48 hours.

Fanfani Arrives In U.S.

Faubus Favored To Win Third-Term Nomination

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus, catapulted into international limelight by the Little Rock integration crisis, is favored to ride his prosegregation stand to a third-term victory in Tuesday's Democratic primary.

The governor, who blocked the entry of nine Negro students at Central High School until a federal injunction forced him to cease interfering with integration, could become the second man in the state's history to win a third term.

Not since Jeff Davis smashed the antithird-term tradition in the early 1860s, has a governor been able to override it.

Faubus, 48, must garner more than 50 per cent of the vote to win the Democratic nomination outright. Nomination is tantamount to election in this heavily Democratic state.

Faubus is opposed for nomination by Chris Finkbeiner, 37, a Little Rock packing house executive; and by Lee Ward, 51, a state court judge from Paragould.

They predict that a "silent vote" will force a runoff. They feel the bulk of this vote will come from persons fearful of opposing Faubus openly in the tense racial climate.

House Unit Votes To Hike Social Security Benefits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways & Means Committee overwhelmingly approved a bill Monday to give the nation's 11,800,000 social security beneficiaries a 7 per cent increase in benefits starting in December.

Although there was no record vote, Rep. Noah M. Mason (R-Ill.) cast the only dissenting ballot against the measure. The bill also would increase payroll taxes on workers and employers to pay for the new benefits.

The legislation was scheduled tentatively for House action Thursday with backers predicting it would pass overwhelmingly. They also expressed confidence that the Senate would complete action on the measure despite the rush toward adjournment.

Payroll withholding taxes would be raised Jan. 1 for the more than 60 million persons holding full or part-time jobs covered by the social security system.

In addition, the measure would increase federal subsidy payments for millions of dependent children, aged and blind on state relief rolls at a cost of 288 million dollars a year.

The administration has recommended that Congress make no changes in the social security program pending a report next year from an advisory council studying the long-range financial soundness of the social security fund.

But Rep. Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark.), chairman of the ways & means committee, said the bill would raise more revenue in taxes than the new benefits would cost.

Mills said the bill thus would improve the soundness of the multi-billion dollar fund. He made the statement in a recorded radio interview.

The measure was approved by voice vote. Some of the 25 committee members were absent. Mason, who voted against the bill, consistently has opposed the social security system as "unsound and dishonest."

The maximum payroll tax increase would total $25.50 a year for workers earning $4,800 annually or more with their employers putting up an equal amount. Social security taxes would go up $37.25 a year for self-employed persons in that income bracket.

Every retired worker covered by the system would get an increase of 7 per cent or $3 monthly in his primary benefits, whichever was larger. Minimum benefits would be raised from $30 to $33 a month and maximums from $108.50 to $116.10.

Va. Governor Cool To Idea He Meet With Ike

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—A Virginia congressman's suggestion the governor and President Eisenhower meet to talk over the Arlington County school crisis met with a cool reception Monday from Gov. J. Lindsay Almond.

The Richmond News Leader quoted Rep. Joel T. Broyhill (R-Va) as saying he may seek to arrange a conference between Eisenhower and Almond before the Arlington schools open Sept. 4.

A federal court has ordered the county school board to admit seven Negro children to white schools.

In response to a request for comment on the Broyhill proposal, Almond said in a statement handed newsmen that his office "knows nothing about any such suggestion."

The operation of public schools, said Almond, is a joint state and local responsibility "and I certainly would hope to avoid, if at all possible, any situation that might tend to magnify, rather than solve our problems."

Reddick Cited For Contempt

BALTIMORE (AP)—Dr. Robert H. Reddick, former state-employed psychiatrist whose troubles with the law have piled up, was cited Monday for contempt of court.

He was accused of having issued a medical license in violation of a 1956 court injunction.

He is free on $20,000 bail after his conviction a few weeks ago in Criminal Court on a charge of trying to counterfeit a medical certificate. A five-year term was imposed and Reddick is appealing the case.

Sidetrip In Ancient Auto Proves Fatal

After the 20-mile trip and the parade, Long decided to go an extra 15 miles to Hannibal for film for his camera.

SPENCER, W. Va. (UPI) — Mrs. Ella Willoughby, 37, and her six children were buried Monday in a common grave, 17 feet long, a few hundred yards from the spot where they were washed to their deaths by a flash flood.

Hundreds of persons, many residents of that farming area some 30 miles southeast of here and others just curious, jammed the little Kirkhart cemetery for the graveside services and burial. Automobiles were lined up some three miles along a road leading to the cemetery.

John Willoughby, 43, the sole survivor when a wall of water battered apart his house and drowned his wife and children, still appeared somewhat dazed by the tragedy.

The Revs. Lewis Wyman and Okaey Nichols of Newton, a tiny community about five miles from the rural section where the Willoughbys lived, officiated at the funeral.

Buried in the big grave were Mrs. Willoughby, daughters, Wilma Lee, 11; Eula Irene, 10; Waveline, 7, and Hazel Hean, 1, and sons William Hugh, 5, and Raymond, 3.

The Willoughbys moved to West Virginia five years ago from Irvine, Ky. Willoughby had been unable to find a job to supplement his meager farm income.

The cemetery is located along Granny's Creek, which was still muddy but shallow Monday. Last Thursday night it was a raging torrent, following a cloudburst. It struck the Willoughby house and washed it away. Willoughby escaped by hacking his way through a wall and grabbing a tree as the house was washed away.

$3,000 In Toll Receipts Vanish At Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—Police are investigating the disappearance of about $3,000 in toll receipts from the Baltimore Harbor tunnel within the past several weeks.

Capt. George H. Mintiens, head of the detective bureau, said Chairman Robert O. Bonnell of the State Roads Commission had reported the loss "several weeks ago."

Bonnell said Monday night the loss had been "kept quiet while an investigation was under way in an attempt to fix responsibility for the disappearance."

The money disappeared on two occasions while being taken between toll gates and a downtown Baltimore bank. The handling included transportation by a commercial carrier.

Bonnell said he could not recall the exact amount of money involved. One SRC source said one amounted to about $1,000 and the other to "something less than $2,000."

Typhoon Nears Japan

TOKYO (UPI) — Typhoon "Doris" moved toward southern Japan Monday with winds of 80 miles an hour that sent coastal shipping scurrying to safety.

43 U.S. Airmen Confined By Iraqi Revolutionists

HABBANIYAH, Iraq (UPI) — Iraqi revolutionists have been holding 43 members of the U. S. Air Force in "protective custody" since the July 14 uprising, it was disclosed Monday night.

The group of Americans include five officers and 38 men who flew here June 17 to train Iraqis in the use and servicing of F86F sabrejets.

When the uprising occurred, the Americans suddenly found themselves restricted to the area of this huge air base, surrounded by Iraqi guards.

More than 1,100 British Royal Air Force personnel and families also are confined to the base, a huge sprawling airfield in the desert about 55 miles west of Baghdad.

The RAF continued to operate a section of the airfield as a communications and staging post after the British withdrawal from neighboring Jordan two years ago.

The Americans came to the base under a U. S. agreement with the former administration of King Faisal, who was killed in the July 14 revolt. Under Faisal, Iraq was a key member of the anti-Communist Baghdad Pact. The new government is expected to leave the alliance made up of Britain, Turkey, Pakistan and Iran.

Lt. Col. Paul Goodwin, a leader of the U. S. group, told United Press International that the Americans have not been harmed and that there have been no serious incidents with the Iraqis. Goodwin calls Williams Air Base, Chandler, Ariz., his home but has relatives in Sacramento, Napa, and Maryville, Calif.

Goodwin said the only real problem was "What do we do now?"

The job of the Americans was to teach Iraqi airmen in the handling of the jet planes with an eye toward use in Baghdad Pact operations.

Gambling Tax Stamp Sales Set Off Probe

Commissioner James H. Hepbron turned his attention to the matter on his return from a convention in Chicago. He had been away during the weekend when it was first reported hundreds of the stamps had been issued in Baltimore.

Federal law requires a $250 tax stamp on each coin-operated device which pays off in cash, premiums, merchandise or tokens.

State's Atty. J. Harold Grady said Baltimore police occasionally use the list of federal stamp holders as leads to check on illegal gambling. But he added that the Police Department had not done so for about a year.

Thirteen of the stamps have been issued in Prince Georges County, and County Commissioner A. Preston Perrie said the commission "would not condone any law breaking in the county."

He added that the board would discuss possible action when President Herbert W. Reichelt returns from vacation.

Thieves Take Safe Containing $4,000

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Thieves who broke into a restaurant one way and out another got away with a safe containing about $4,000 in small bills and $100 from an office desk.

The burglary was discovered Monday morning when Mrs. Ottie Bassford, cashier for the Captain's Table Restaurant, arrived to open the place. It is located on Revell Highway, three miles west of the Bay Bridge.

Money in the safe was from receipts for Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The burglars entered the restaurant by taking a side door off its hinges, police said. They broke through the back door to get away, taking the safe with them.

Boy Who Sprayed Paint On Police Car Sent To Jail

HYATTSVILLE, Md. (AP) — A 17-year-old Coral Hills, Md., boy has been sentenced to serve a month in jail for spraying lavender paint on a Prince Georges County police car.

Dennis R. Reid was given a six-month sentence in Juvenile Court on a property destruction charge. Judge Emmett H. Nanna Jr. suspended five months of the sentence on condition the boy move to Ohio with his mother.

Reid said he turned a paint spray bomb on a police cruiser parked outside police headquarters in Seat Pleasant late Friday night while three companions were inside making a complaint. The three, acquitted of destruction charges, were complaining that another carload of boys threw a beer bottle and swung a baseball bat at them.

Reid gave no explanation of the spraying episode other than that he was "mad at getting him with the bat."

Services Held For Chennault

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Funeral services were held Monday for Lt. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, leader of the "Flying Tigers" who passed from life into history and legend Sunday.

The body of Chennault, who won major victories against the Japanese in the air war over China but lost his last battle with lung cancer, lay in state during the day while hundreds of Louisianans filed quietly past to pay last respects.

The recently-promoted 68-year-old lieutenant general was reported improving from the lung condition when a massive arterial hemmorhage proved fatal at Ochsner Foundation Hospital.

Final services for the old warrior will be held in Arlington National Cemetery Wednesday at 1 p.m. (C.S.T.). His body will be flown to Washington Tuesday in a plane from the 14th Air Force, his last service command.

Bandit Pays His Way

GRAYSON, Ky. (AP) — A masked bandit robbed Carroll's service station of at least $150, took about $3 each from two attendants, then forced them to drive him to nearby Olive Hill.

When they arrived he paid them for their 15-mile trip.

Russell Lucas, 25, and Phillip Holbrook, 17, said the bandit gave them back their personal funds and said:

"Here's two dollars for your gasoline."

Arab Warning

TOKYO (UPI) — Ambassador Mustafa Yusev of the United Arab Republic warned Monday that his country would fire on American or other warplanes violating U.A.R. airspace.

He also said a landing in Iraq would be considered an attack upon the U.A.R., and "we will take steps to defend ourselves."

September Draft Call Increased To 11,000

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Defense Department announced Monday that the Army will draft 11,000 men in September — 1,000 more than in each of the previous three months.

The increase was described by a department spokesman as within normal limits. He said it was not related to the Middle East crisis.

President Eisenhower, meanwhile, signed into law a bill permitting him to boost mental and physical standards for draftees accepted by the armed forces.

The White House noted that the Army discharged 30,000 inductees in the year ended July 1 because of mental ineptitude.

Waynesburg's Rain Tradition At Stake Today

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (UPI)—All eyes in Waynesburg were cast skyward Monday night at midnight as citizens sought a hint from the heavens whether their oldest tradition will hold true.

If it doesn't rain Tuesday, nothing else much matters. If rain falls; however, it will be the 73rd time within the past 82 years that the "rain day" prophecy has held true.

It all started back in 1876 when a farmer told a druggist who was hoping for rain, "You know, it's durn funny, but it will rain today — always does on July 29." And so it did, and druggist Bill Allison began keeping the official record.

The present official weather prophet, attorney John Daley, makes a standing wager each year of a hat that the farmer's prediction will hold true. Daley, who has a closet full of his winnings, has bet with such notables as Jack Dempsey, Bob Hope, Bing Crosby—and has won.

This year, a modern touch has been added. Major Donald Johnson, squadron commander of the 147th Squadron of the Pennsylvania Air National Guard has put a replica of a jet pilot's space "hat" on the block, in wagering against Daley.

Daley, on the other hand, will offer a replica of a hat worn by Revolutionary General Anthony (Mad Anthony) Wayne, for whom Waynesburg was named.

Meanwhile, citizens of the Greene County College town were beginning to assemble in the city square for the 24-hour vigil.

SEC Halts Trading In Belle Firm Stock

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trading in the stock of Cornucopia Gold Mines, a firm in which Pittsburgh financier Earl Belle was involved, Monday was ordered suspended through Aug. 3.

A series of investigations of Belle's financial affairs is under way. Last week he was charged in Pittsburgh with fraudulent conversion of $62,500.

Belle, 26, flew to South America July 4 and has not returned.

The Securities and Exchange Commission, in ordering the suspension, said it acted to prevent fraudulent, deceptive or manipulative acts or practices in purchase and sales of Cornucopia stock.

Top Officials Will Discuss Chesapeake Oil Pollution

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A group of federal, state and Baltimore City officials will meet here Tuesday to discuss ways of eliminating oil pollution in Chesapeake Bay.

The high-level conference was called by Russell H. McCain, executive assistant to Gov. McKeldin, after a flood of complaints about oil and bilge water from ships washing up on bathing beaches and in Baltimore harbor.

The oil also kills some fish and threatens other marine life.

McCain said McKeldin expressed concern about the problem before leaving on a trip to Europe and directed him to look into the situation with interested agencies.

McCain said today that nearly all of those invited have said they will attend the session (at 1:30 p.m.) in the Senate chamber of the Statehouse.

Among those attending will be Capt. R. R. Smith, captain of the port of Baltimore for the U. S. Coast Guard; John L. Reynolds and Elmer Leineweber of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers; Paul W. McKee, director of the State Water Pollution Control Commission, and Dr. L. Eugene Cronin, director of the State Department of Research and Education.

Also, Sen. Louis N. Phipps (D-Anne Arundel), chairman, and other members of a Legislative Council committee on bay pollution; Dr. Joseph T. Singewald Jr., director of the State Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources; and Robert L. Shores, chief inspector, Tidewater Fisheries Commission.

Geneva Agreement

GENEVA (AP)—The East-West conference of nuclear scientists Monday decided artificial earth satellites may be used to detect nuclear explosions at high altitudes.

They agreed high-altitude blasts may be verified by recording increased gamma radiation and the neutrons emitted from an explosion.

Va. Governor Cool To Idea He Meet With Ike

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—A Virginia congressman's suggestion the governor and President Eisenhower meet to talk over the Arlington County school crisis met with a cool reception Monday from Gov. J. Lindsay Almond.

The Richmond News Leader quoted Rep. Joel T. Broyhill (R-Va) as saying he may seek to arrange a conference between Eisenhower and Almond before the Arlington schools open Sept. 4.

A federal court has ordered the county school board to admit seven Negro children to white schools.

In response to a request for comment on the Broyhill proposal, Almond said in a statement handed newsmen that his office "knows nothing about any such suggestion."

The operation of public schools, said Almond, is a joint state and local responsibility "and I certainly would hope to avoid, if at all possible, any situation that might tend to magnify, rather than solve our problems."

Reddick Cited For Contempt

BALTIMORE (AP)—Dr. Robert H. Reddick, former state-employed psychiatrist whose troubles with the law have piled up, was cited Monday for contempt of court.

He was accused of having issued a medical license in violation of a 1956 court injunction.

He is free on $20,000 bail after his conviction a few weeks ago in Criminal Court on a charge of trying to counterfeit a medical certificate. A five-year term was imposed and Reddick is appealing the case.

Seven Victims Of Flash Flood Buried In W.Va.

SPENCER, W. Va. (UPI) — Mrs. Ella Willoughby, 37, and her six children were buried Monday in a common grave, 17 feet long, a few hundred yards from the spot where they were washed to their deaths by a flash flood.

Hundreds of persons, many residents of that farming area some 30 miles southeast of here and others just curious, jammed the little Kirkhart cemetery for the graveside services and burial. Automobiles were lined up some three miles along a road leading to the cemetery.

John Willoughby, 43, the sole survivor when a wall of water battered apart his house and drowned his wife and children, still appeared somewhat dazed by the tragedy.

The Revs. Lewis Wyman and Okaey Nichols of Newton, a tiny community about five miles from the rural section where the Willoughbys lived, officiated at the funeral.

Buried in the big grave were Mrs. Willoughby, daughters, Wilma Lee, 11; Eula Irene, 10; Waveline, 7, and Hazel Hean, 1, and sons William Hugh, 5, and Raymond, 3.

The Willoughbys moved to West Virginia five years ago from Irvine, Ky. Willoughby had been unable to find a job to supplement his meager farm income.

The cemetery is located along Granny's Creek, which was still muddy but shallow Monday. Last Thursday night it was a raging torrent, following a cloudburst. It struck the Willoughby house and washed it away. Willougbhy escaped by hacking his way through a wall and grabbing a tree as the house was washed away.

$3,000 In Toll Receipts Vanish At Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—Police are investigating the disappearance of about $3,000 in toll receipts from the Baltimore Harbor tunnel within the past several weeks.

Capt. George H. Mintiens, head of the detective bureau, said Chairman Robert O. Bonnell of the State Roads Commission had reported the loss "several weeks ago."

Bonnell said Monday night the loss had been "kept quiet while an investigation was under way in an attempt to fix responsibility for the disappearance."

The money disappeared on two occasions while being taken between toll gates and a downtown Baltimore bank. The handling included transportation by a commercial carrier.

Bonnell said he could not recall the exact amount of money involved. One SRC source said one amounted to about $1,000 and the other to "something less than $2,000."

Typhoon Nears Japan

TOKYO (UPI) — Typhoon "Doris" moved toward southern Japan Monday with winds of 80 miles an hour that sent coastal shipping scurrying to safety.

43 U.S. Airmen Confined By Iraqi Revolutionists

HABBANIYAH, Iraq (UPI) — Iraqi revolutionists have been holding 43 members of the U. S. Air Force in "protective custody" since the July 14 uprising, it was disclosed Monday night.

The group of Americans include five officers and 38 men who flew here June 17 to train Iraqis in the use and servicing of F86F sabrejets.

When the uprising occurred, the Americans suddenly found themselves restricted to the area of this huge air base, surrounded by Iraqi guards.

More than 1,100 British Royal Air Force personnel and families also are confined to the base, a huge sprawling airfield in the desert about 55 miles west of Baghdad.

The RAF continued to operate a section of the airfield as a communications and staging post after the British withdrawal from neighboring Jordan two years ago.

The Americans came to the base under a U. S. agreement with the former administration of King Faisal, who was killed in the July 14 revolt. Under Faisal, Iraq was a key member of the anti - Communist Baghdad Pact. The new government is expected to leave the alliance made up of Britain, Turkey, Pakistan and Iran.

Lt. Col. Paul Goodwin, a leader of the U. S. group, told United Press International that the Americans have not been harmed and that there have been no serious incidents with the Iraqis. Goodwin calls Williams Air Base, Chandler, Ariz., his home but has relatives in Sacramento, Napa, and Maryville, Calif.

Goodwin said the only real problem was "What do we do now?"

The job of the Americans was to teach Iraqi airmen in the handling of the jet planes with an eye toward use in Baghdad Pact operations.

Gambling Tax Stamp Sales Set Off Probe

Commissioner James H. Hepbron turned his attention to the matter on his return from a convention in Chicago. He had been away during the weekend when it was first reported hundreds of the stamps had been issued in Baltimore.

Federal law requires a $250 tax stamp on each coin-operated device which pays off in cash, premiums, merchandise or tokens.

State's Atty. J. Harold Grady said Baltimore police occasionally use the list of federal stamp holders as leads to check on illegal gambling. But he added that the Police Department had not done so for about a year.

Thirteen of the stamps have been issued in Prince Georges County, and County Commissioner A. Preston Perrie said the commission "would not condone any law breaking in the county."

He added that the board would discuss possible action when President Herbert W. Reichelt returns from vacation.

Thieves Take Safe Containing $4,000

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Thieves who broke into a restaurant one way and out another got away with a safe containing about $4,000 in small bills and $100 from an office desk.

The burglary was discovered Monday morning when Mrs. Ottie Bassford, cashier for the Captain's Table Restaurant, arrived to open the place. It is located on Revell Highway, three miles west of the Bay Bridge.

Money in the safe was from receipts for Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The burglars entered the restaurant by taking a side door off its hinges, police said. They broke through the back door to get away, taking the safe with them.

September Draft Call Increased To 11,000

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Defense Department announced Monday that the Army will draft 11,000 men in September — 1,000 more than in each of the previous three months.

The increase was described by a department spokesman as within normal limits. He said it was not related to the Middle East crisis.

President Eisenhower, meanwhile, signed into law a bill permitting him to boost mental and physical standards for draftees accepted by the armed forces.

The White House noted that the Army discharged 30,000 inductees in the year ended July 1 because of mental ineptitude.

Boy Who Sprayed Paint On Police Car Sent To Jail

HYATTSVILLE, Md. (AP) — A 17-year-old Coral Hills, Md., boy has been sentenced to serve a month in jail for spraying lavender paint on a Prince Georges County police car.

Dennis R. Reid was given a six-month sentence in Juvenile Court on a property destruction charge. Judge Emmett H. Nanna Jr. suspended five months of the sentence on condition the boy move to Ohio with his mother.

Reid said he turned a paint spray bomb on a police cruiser parked outside police headquarters in Seat Pleasant late Friday night while three companions were inside making a complaint. The three, acquitted of destruction charges, were complaining that another carload of boys threw a beer bottle and swung a baseball bat at them.

Reid gave no explanation of the spraying episode other than that he was "mad at getting him with the bat."

Services Held For Chennault

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Funeral services were held Monday for Lt. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, leader of the "Flying Tigers" who passed from life into history and legend Sunday.

The body of Chennault, who won major victories against the Japanese in the air war over China but lost his last battle with lung cancer, lay in state during the day while hundreds of Louisianans filed quietly past to pay last respects.

The recently-promoted 68-year-old lieutenant general was reported improving from the lung condition when a massive arterial hemmorhage proved fatal at Ochsner Foundation Hospital.

Final services for the old warrior will be held in Arlington National Cemetery Wednesday at 1 p.m. (C.S.T.). His body will be flown to Washington Tuesday in a plane from the 14th Air Force, his last service command.

Bandit Pays His Way

GRAYSON, Ky. (AP) — A masked bandit robbed Carroll's service station of at least $150, took about $3 each from two attendants, then forced them to drive him to nearby Olive Hill.

When they arrived he paid them for their 15-mile trip.

Russell Lucas, 25, and Phillip Holbrook, 17, said the bandit gave them back their personal funds and said:

Arab Warning

TOKYO (UPI) — Ambassador Mustafa Yusev of the United Arab Republic warned Monday that his country would fire on American or other warplanes violating U.A.R. airspace.

He also said a landing in Iraq would be considered an attack upon the U.A.R., and "we will take steps to defend ourselves."

Waynesburg's Rain Tradition At Stake Today

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (UPI)—All eyes in Waynesburg were cast skyward Monday night at midnight as citizens sought a hint from the heavens whether their oldest tradition will hold true.

If it doesn't rain Tuesday, nothing else much matters. If rain falls; however, it will be the 73rd time within the past 82 years that the "rain day" prophecy has held true.

It all started back in 1876 when a farmer told a druggist who was hoping for rain, "You know, it's durn funny, but it will rain today — always does on July 29." And so it did, and druggist Bill Allison began keeping the official record.

The present official weather prophet, attorney John Daley, makes a standing wager each year of a hat that the farmer's prediction will hold true. Daley, who has a closet full of his winnings, has bet with such notables as Jack Dempsey, Bob Hope, Bing Crosby—and has won.

This year, a modern touch has been added. Major Donald Johnson, squadron commander of the 147th Squadron of the Pennsylvania Air National Guard has put a replica of a jet pilot's space "hat" on the block, in wagering against Daley.

Daley, on the other hand, will offer a replica of a hat worn by Revolutionary General Anthony (Mad Anthony) Wayne, for whom Waynesburg was named.

Meanwhile, citizens of the Greene County College town were beginning to assemble in the city square for the 24-hour vigil.

SEC Halts Trading In Belle Firm Stock

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trading in the stock of Cornucopia Gold Mines, a firm in which Pittsburgh financier Earl Belle was involved, Monday was ordered suspended through Aug. 3.

A series of investigations of Belle's financial affairs is under way. Last week he was charged in Pittsburgh with fraudulent conversion of $62,500.

Belle, 26, flew to South America July 4 and has not returned.

The Securities and Exchange Commission, in ordering the suspension, said it acted to prevent fraudulent, deceptive or manipulative acts or practices in purchase and sales of Cornucopia stock.

Top Officials Will Discuss Chesapeake Oil Pollution

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A group of federal, state and Baltimore City officials will meet here Tuesday to discuss ways of eliminating oil pollution in Chesapeake Bay.

The high-level conference was called by Russell H. McCain, executive assistant to Gov. McKeldin, after a flood of complaints about oil and bilge water from ships washing up on bathing beaches and in Baltimore harbor.

The oil also kills some fish and threatens other marine life.

McCain said McKeldin expressed concern about the problem before leaving on a trip to Europe and directed him to look into the situation with interested agencies.

McCain said today that nearly all of those invited have said they will attend the session (at 1:30 p.m.) in the Senate chamber of the Statehouse.

Among those attending will be Capt. R. R. Smith, captain of the port of Baltimore for the U. S. Coast Guard; John L. Reynolds and Elmer Leineweber of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers; Paul W. McKee, director of the State Water Pollution Control Commission, and Dr. L. Eugene Cronin, director of the State Department of Research and Education.

Also, Sen. Louis N. Phipps (D-Anne Arundel), chairman, and other members of a Legislative Council committee on bay pollution; Dr. Joseph T. Singewald Jr., director of the State Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources; and Robert L. Shores, chief inspector, Tidewater Fisheries Commission.

Geneva Agreement

GENEVA (AP)—The East-West conference of nuclear scientists Monday decided artificial earth satellites may be used to detect nuclear explosions at high altitudes.

They agreed high-altitude blasts may be verified by recording increased gamma radiation and the neutrons emitted from an explosion.

Thruway Speedup Needs Action Of Legislature

The State Roads Commission in a letter to the Mayor and Council yesterday said there is little likelihood of extensive work on the Industrial Boulevard during the next fiscal year unless the General Assembly provides additional funds in its 1959 session.

The SRC last week gave the Cumberland Contracting Company notice to proceed on the first phase of the Industrial Boulevard, extending from the Evitts Creek bridge to Crawford Street here.

The SRC, in a letter signed by Norman O. Pritchett, chief engineer, said it is possible that certain construction problems may cause an extension of the boulevard approximately one block west of the present contract limit.

It is also possible several minor adjustments will be required in several areas where excess excavation on the boulevard will be put in place for later construction of an extension to the downtown area.

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum explained that the excess material referred by the SRC was 75,000 yards of dirt to be placed in the vicinity of the old mid-city ball park for use on construction of the boulevard.

In an attached letter, Nuzum told council any relocation of utilities in connection with the proposed change would be minor and could be handled under the normal sewer budget appropriation.

Several routine matters came before council yesterday.

The payroll for the last two weeks of July was approved.

Payments authorized included $50 to Lottie O. Richards for a water tap which was not used; and $57.60 to Chester F. Brant and Elsie A. Brant as a refund for sewer front footage on Maple Street with the understanding if the sewer is ever located in front of the property and tapped by the owner, the city will be paid $57.60 plus the tappage fee then in effect.

The Hermanettes softball team expressed appreciation for services donated by members of the Police Department at a recent game, proceeds from which will be used to defray expenses of the team at the state girl's softball tournament in Baltimore August 2-3.

Stock Market Pushes To Another 1958 High

NEW YORK (UPI)—Early hesitancy was swept away and the market climbed to further new highs for the year as late demand developed for motors, coppers, rails and a host of special issues.

Trading continued active, with volume falling only 490,000 shares below Friday's 4,430,000 shares—the heaviest of the year.

Several items contributed to the resumption of buying after early profit-taking, including House Interior Committee approval of a $600 million minerals subsidy program, another increase in steel production schedules, some favorable earnings reports for rails.

Of a total 1,227 issues traded, 618 were higher on the day while 376 declined. There were 210 new highs set, only 5 new lows.

Coppers touched off the upward move with most setting new highs on gains ranging around 2 points in Anaconda, Cerro de Pasco, Copper Range and Kennecott.

Motors were strong. Chrysler gained 1⅞ in active trading. Ford rose 1¼; General Motors a fraction. American Motors, last week's feature on its good earnings report backed down ¼ point on the day's heaviest volume.

Chicago Grains

Wheat futures finished off ½ to ¾ cent; corn (old) off ⅛ to 1⅛ cents; (new) unchanged to off ⅜ cent; oats up ⅛ to off ¼ cent; rye up ⅛ to off ⅛ cent and soybeans up ⅝ to 1⅜ cents.

Wheat receipts made news Monday on the floor with reports of the largest arrivals in nine years. Prices rallied little despite commission house buying. Extensive hedge selling marked most of the day. Again, the trend was as it had been since the middle of last week, heading downward.

Moderately active trade sparked corn futures with cash interests controlling most of the day's business. The September contract, however, remained relatively weak.

At outside markets, grains were mostly steady to easy. The range:

Thruway Speedup Needs Action Of Legislature

The State Roads Commission in a letter to the Mayor and Council yesterday said there is little likelihood of extensive work on the Industrial Boulevard during the next fiscal year unless the General Assembly provides additional funds in its 1959 session.

The SRC last week gave the Cumberland Contracting Company notice to proceed on the first phase of the Industrial Boulevard, extending from the Evitts Creek bridge to Crawford Street here.

The SRC, in a letter signed by Norman O. Pritchett, chief engineer, said it is possible that certain construction problems may cause an extension of the boulevard approximately one block west of the present contract limit.

It is also possible several minor adjustments will be required in several areas where excess excavation on the boulevard will be put in place for later construction of an extension to the downtown area.

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum explained that the excess material referred by the SRC was 75,000 yards of dirt to be placed in the vicinity of the old mid-city ball park for use on construction of the boulevard.

In an attached letter, Nuzum told council any relocation of utilities in connection with the proposed change would be minor and could be handled under the normal sewer budget appropriation.

Several routine matters came before council yesterday.

The payroll for the last two weeks of July was approved.

Payments authorized included $50 to Lottie O. Richards for a water tap which was not used; and $57.60 to Chester F. Brant and Elsie A. Brant as a refund for sewer front footage on Maple Street with the understanding if the sewer is ever located in front of the property and tapped by the owner, the city will be paid $57.60 plus the tappage fee then in effect.

The Hermanettes softball team expressed appreciation for services donated by members of the Police Department at a recent game, proceeds from which will be used to defray expenses of the team at the state girl's softball tournament in Baltimore August 2-3.

Albert Says!

Stock Market Pushes To Another 1958 High

NEW YORK (UPI)—Early hesitancy was swept away and the market climbed to further new highs for the year as late demand developed for motors, coppers, rails and a host of special issues.

Trading continued active, with volume falling only 490,000 shares below Friday's 4,430,000 shares—the heaviest of the year.

Several items contributed to the resumption of buying after early profit-taking, including House Interior Committee approval of a $600 million minerals subsidy program, another increase in steel production schedules, some favorable earnings reports for rails.

Of a total 1,227 issues traded, 618 were higher on the day while 376 declined. There were 210 new highs set, only 5 new lows.

Coppers touched off the upward move with most setting new highs on gains ranging around 2 points in Anaconda, Cerro de Pasco, Copper Range and Kennecott.

Motors were strong. Chrysler gained 1⅞ in active trading. Ford rose 1¼; General Motors a fraction. American Motors, last week's feature on its good earnings report backed down ¼ point on the day's heaviest volume.

Chicago Grains

Wheat futures finished off ½ to ⅝ cent; corn (old) off ⅛ to 1⅛ cents; (new) unchanged to off ⅜ cent; oats up ⅛ to off ¼ cent; rye up ⅛ to off ⅛ cent and soybeans up ⅝ to 1⅜ cents.

Wheat receipts made news Monday on the floor with reports of the largest arrivals in nine years. Prices rallied little despite commission house buying. Extensive hedge selling marked most of the day. Again, the trend was as it had been since the middle of last week, heading downward.

Moderately active trade sparked corn futures with cash interests controlling most of the day's business. The September contract, however, remained relatively weak.

At outside markets, grains were mostly steady to easy. The range:

Local Library Reports Another Banner Year

Cumberland Free Public Library had another banner year in 1957-58, the annual report given by Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, indicated yesterday.

The report covered activities of the main library on Washington Street and branches at Pennsylvania Avenue School and John Humbird School.

Among the main points brought out in the report were that total volumes increased from 59,709 to 61,940; the average daily circulation was 889.5 including 59,170 adult volumes; 212,113 juvenile for a total of 271,288; and that there are 9,120 borrowers registered since the new registration period began in 1956.

Appreciation was expressed both to the Mayor and Council and the Board of Allegany County Commissioners for their cooperation. The year was highlighted by many unusual gifts from organizations and individuals.

The report of the 34th year of library operation pointed out it has become impossible to serve the community adequately on its present budget. It said both the library and staff are too small to meet needs and requested an additional trained worker. More funds are also needed to improve physical equipment of the library and it believed an appropriation of $1 per capita would be sufficient to serve the community although it is only one-third the amount recommended by the American Library Association.

It was pointed out council must appoint two new members of the Board of Directors to replace John J. Tipton, secretary for 35 years, and Lewyn C. Davis, treasurer since 1953, who died during the year.

June Sewage Report

The June report of the sewage treatment plant was submitted to the Mayor and Council yesterday by Thomas S. Post, superintendent. It showed a flow of 147,680,000 gallons or 4,922,666 daily. A total of 249,800 cubic feet of gas was generated and used for heating the plant while another 148,800 cubic feet generated was not used.

Fred H. Ryan Reappointed To CS Board

Fred E. Ryan, 137 Arch Street, was reappointed for a six-year term to the Civil Service Commission yesterday by the Mayor and Council.

The new term, Ryan's second, will expire in 1964. Ryan had been chairman of the commission the last two years and continues to serve with Francis A. Kenney, present chairman, whose term expires in 1960, and Ralph R. Webster whose term expires in 1962.

The Civil Service post pays $25 a month.

Council also approved the appointment of William R. Hudson as temporary draftsman in the Engineering Department for the period July 21-September 11. His salary will be $300 monthly.

On another matter, the bid of Nationwide Insurance Company in the amount of $2,752 was accepted for insurance coverage of the city motorized fleet for one year. Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder said the bid was $321 lower than other bids submitted.

The resignation of Captain Thomas Lindner from the Fire Department was accepted. Lindner has accepted a position at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory and is ending 16 years in city service.

Council approved partial payment of $4,694.68 to Orrie Sensabaugh for work on the Clement Street sewer. City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum said cost of the sewer will be charged to property owners and indicated that a request to cover the final payment would be introduced next week or the week following. The job is 90 per cent complete and yesterday's authorized payment will cover 75 per cent of the cost, he said.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson said only about $5,000 remains in that particular fund and the city should find additional money if another payment request is forthcoming. The project was approved during the previous administration, it was pointed out.

An antique is not considered an antique unless it is at least 110 years old.

Several Matters Brought Up At Council Meeting

Members of the Mayor and Council and several residents spoke out on several subjects at yesterday's regular session.

Street Commissioner John J. Long said the county had been receiving a number of calls on complaints against mosquitos and weeds and asked that city residents direct their protests to the City Engineer who would look into them.

Long said the city takes care of weeds and mosquito conditions on city-owned property but where private property is involved correction of the conditions are the responsibility of the property owner.

Guy Clark of 300 South Street appeared to ask what had been done concerning his requests for a traffic light at Laing and Virginia Avenues and more policemen for South End.

The request had been referred to Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming who was absent yesterday because of illness. Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn told council that the department does not have additional men to place on duty in South End.

In reference to the light, he said a check of a similar request for another section recently revealed a light would cost $750 and estimated the one in South End would cost $600. Flynn said it is a money question and if council could provide it, the light would be installed.

However, City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum reported that during the remainder of the summer and into the winter, work will be underway on the Industrial Boulevard segment entering that South End area. Any light installed will be necessarily out of operation for long periods of time, he said. One reason for this, he added, will be the widening of Virginia Avenue between Laing and Fifth Street, work on which might have started today. For this reason, Nuzum stated he did not believe a light would be too functional at this time.

Asa Combs, 138 Seymour Street, complained of a Fifth Street sewer backing up into his basement during heavy rains. The matter was referred to Long and Nuzum.

T. L. Lowery 714 Frederick Street, asked again about his request for damages as the result of injury to his property from vibration caused by street traffic. Lowery also told council a committee would appear soon to find out why the city is operating the sewage treatment plant when it can be leased to a private concern and the city get revenue from it. He also said the city should look into the sale of sludge taken from the plant as fertilizer.

A lighter touch was added to the proceedings by J. H. Trost of 308 Central Avenue, who said he had no complaint but just dropped in to "look you over."

After suggesting that council install a loudspeaker system so folks in the audience could hear proceedings and adding that without a speaker "It sounds like a beehive."

Trost said he "got the ticket he wanted" in city office "but I only voted for one of you." This happened because of a mistake in the operation of the voting machine. Trost explained he thought when he pushed the lever over a name, he had to also pull the lever which opens the curtain. He did this after pushing the lever over the name of Commissioner Lucile Roeder, the first name he recognized on the ballot. When he opened the curtain and started to close it again, a poll worker stopped him and said he had finished voting.

"I voted for her four times," he said. (Actually, by this procedure, it mean only one vote for Mrs. Roeder and none for the other incumbents.)

However, continued Trost, he got the ticket he wanted, and added if they don't do any better than the other crew, they ought to be thrown out in six months. Then he turned and walked out of the council chamber.

New Service Being Used At Local Sears Store

The Sears, Roebuck Company is providing "overnight" service for residents of the Cumberland area who like to shop by catalog.

C. William Seasholtz, manager of the Cumberland store, announced yesterday that the store has installed a teletype machine that is tied in directly to the company's headquarters in Philadelphia, assuring delivery of stock the next morning.

The new setup is handled by seven women, four answering telephone calls from customers, two punching perforated tape to Philadelphia and three accepting orders from persons coming into the store.

In the past an order would take from three to four days to arrive in Cumberland.

With the installation of the teletype machine, Sears has signed a contract with a local trucking firm which stops at the company's warehouse in Philadelphia daily. The truck leaves the Pennsylvania city around 9:30 p.m. daily, thus delivering the merchandise in Cumberland the following morning.

The teletype machine was specially designed by AT&T for the Sears Company. It has two attachments and sends the orders by perforated tape to Philadelphia. If an error is caught in the order, the "puncher" in Philadelphia immediately sends for a correction.

The system has been under consideration by the Sears Corporation for a number of years, but was placed into fulltime operation only this year. The local store started its operation last week.

June Sewage Report

The June report of the sewage treatment plant was submitted to the Mayor and Council yesterday by Thomas S. Post, superintendent. It showed a flow of 147,680,000 gallons or 4,922,666 daily. A total of 249,800 cubic feet of gas was generated and used for heating the plant while another 148,800 cubic feet generated was not used.

Fred H. Ryan Reappointed To CS Board

Fred E. Ryan, 137 Arch Street, was reappointed for a six-year term to the Civil Service Commission yesterday by the Mayor and Council.

The new term, Ryan's second, will expire in 1964. Ryan had been chairman of the commission the last two years and continues to serve with Francis A. Kenney, present chairman, whose term expires in 1960, and Ralph R. Webster whose term expires in 1962.

The Civil Service post pays $25 a month.

Council also approved the appointment of William R. Hudson as temporary draftsman in the Engineering Department for the period July 21-September 11. His salary will be $300 monthly.

On another matter, the bid of Nationwide Insurance Company in the amount of $2,752 was accepted for insurance coverage of the city motorized fleet for one year. Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder said the bid was $321 lower than other bids submitted.

The resignation of Captain Thomas Lindner from the Fire Department was accepted. Lindner has accepted a position at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory and is ending 16 years in city service.

Council approved partial payment of $4,694.68 to Orrie Sensabaugh for work on the Clement Street sewer. City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum said cost of the sewer will be charged to property owners and indicated that a request to cover the final payment would be introduced next week or the week following. The job is 90 per cent complete and yesterday's authorized payment will cover 75 per cent of the cost, he said.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson said only about $5,000 remains in that particular fund and the city should find additional money if another payment request is forthcoming. The project was approved during the previous administration, it was pointed out.

An antique is not considered an antique unless it is at least 110 years old.

Several Matters Brought Up At Council Meeting

Members of the Mayor and Council and several residents spoke out on several subjects at yesterday's regular session.

Street Commissioner John J. Long said the county had been receiving a number of calls on complaints against mosquitos and weeds and asked that city residents direct their protests to the City Engineer who would look into them.

Long said the city takes care of weeds and mosquito conditions on city-owned property but where private property is involved correction of the conditions are the responsibility of the property owner.

Guy Clark of 300 South Street appeared to ask what had been done concerning his requests for a traffic light at Laing and Virginia Avenues and more policemen for South End.

The request had been referred to Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming who was absent yesterday because of illness. Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn told council that the department does not have additional men to place on duty in South End.

In reference to the light, he said a check of a similar request for another section recently revealed a light would cost $750 and estimated the one in South End would cost $600. Flynn said it is a money question and if council could provide it, the light would be installed.

However, City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum reported that during the remainder of the summer and into the winter, work will be underway on the Industrial Boulevard segment entering that South End area. Any light installed will be necessarily out of operation for long periods of time, he said. One reason for this, he added, will be the widening of Virginia Avenue between Laing and Fifth Street, work on which might have started today. For this reason, Nuzum stated he did not believe a light would be too functional at this time.

Asa Combs, 138 Seymour Street, complained of a Fifth Street sewer backing up into his basement during heavy rains. The matter was referred to Long and Nuzum.

T. L. Lowery 714 Frederick Street, asked again about his request for damages as the result of injury to his property from vibration caused by street traffic. Lowery also told council a committee would appear soon to find out why the city is operating the sewage treatment plant when it can be leased to a private concern and the city get revenue from it. He also said the city should look into the sale of sludge taken from the plant as fertilizer.

A lighter touch was added to the proceedings by J. H. Trost of 308 Central Avenue, who said he had no complaint but just dropped in to "look you over."

After suggesting that council install a loudspeaker system so folks in the audience could hear proceedings and adding that without a speaker "It sounds like a beehive."

Trost said he "got the ticket he wanted" in city office "but I only voted for one of you." This happened because of a mistake in the operation of the voting machine. Trost explained he thought when he pushed the lever over a name, he had to also pull the lever which opens the curtain. He did this after pushing the lever over the name of Commissioner Lucile Roeder, the first name he recognized on the ballot. When he opened the curtain and started to close it again, a poll worker stopped him and said he had finished voting.

"I voted for her four times," he said. (Actually, by this procedure, it mean only one vote for Mrs. Roeder and none for the other incumbents.)

However, continued Trost, he got the ticket he wanted, and added if they don't do any better than the other crew, they ought to be thrown out in six months. Then he turned and walked out of the council chamber.

New Service Being Used At Local Sears Store

The Sears, Roebuck Company is providing "overnight" service for residents of the Cumberland area who like to shop by catalog.

C. William Seasholtz, manager of the Cumberland store, announced yesterday that the store has installed a teletype machine that is tied in directly to the company's headquarters in Philadelphia, assuring delivery of stock the next morning.

The new setup is handled by seven women, four answering telephone calls from customers, two punching perforated tape to Philadelphia and three accepting orders from persons coming into the store.

In the past an order would take from three to four days to arrive in Cumberland.

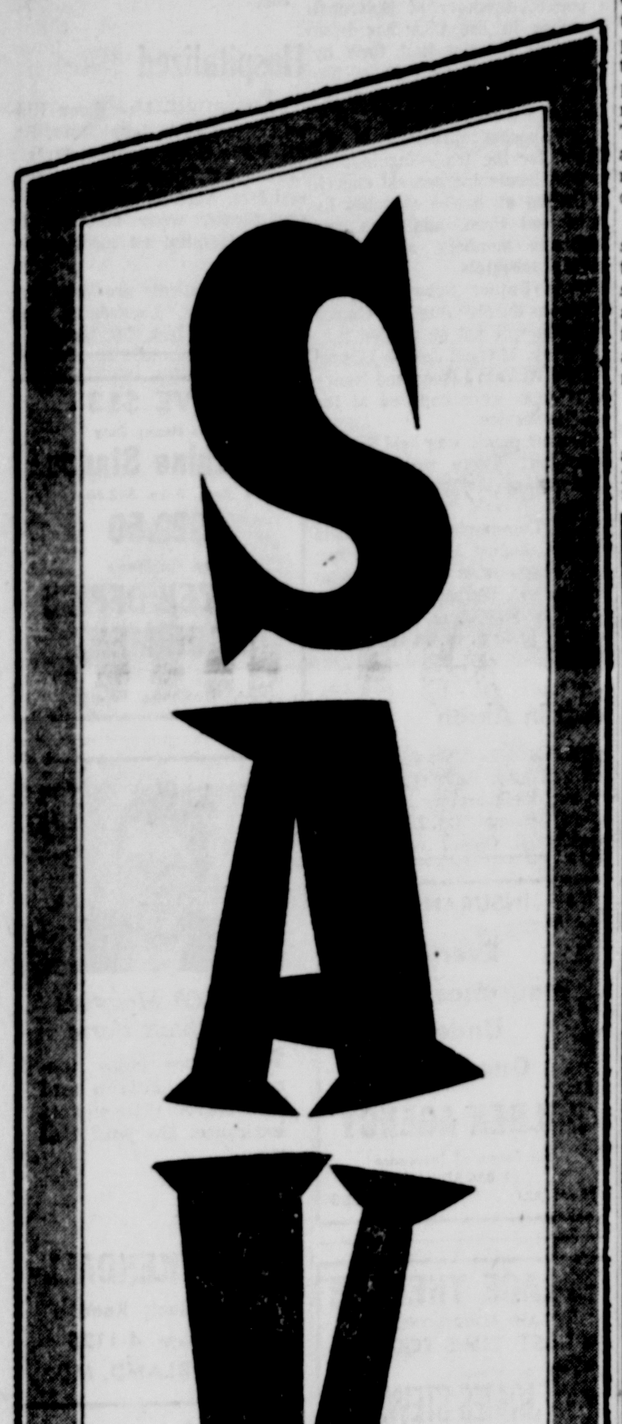

With the installation of the teletype machine, Sears has signed a contract with a local trucking firm which stops at the company's warehouse in Philadelphia daily. The truck leaves the Pennsylvania city around 9:30 p.m. daily, thus delivering the merchandise in Cumberland the following morning.

The teletype machine was specially designed by AT&T for the Sears Company. It has two attachments and sends the orders by perforated tape to Philadelphia. If an error is caught in the order, the "puncher" in Philadelphia immediately sends for a correction.

The system has been under consideration by the Sears Corporation for a number of years, but was placed into fulltime operation only this year. The local store started its operation last week.

There are more motion picture theatres in Texas than in any other state.

C&A Gas Co. Presents Rate Case To PSC

Seeks $665,000 Increase In W.Va.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Cumberland & Allegheny Gas Co., rested its case Monday before the Public Service Commission in hearings on an application for a $665,000 rate increase for its northeastern West Virginia customers.

The hearing was continued to Tuesday with the PSC staff reserving the right to give rebuttal testimony, on exhibits introduced by the utility Monday.

C&A filed for the increase late last year and put the higher rates into effect under bond April 22 to some 17,000 customers in the Keyser, Elkins and Buckhannon areas. Two other hearings had been held prior to Monday.

Should the Public Service Commission grant a rate increase which is less than that requested by C&A, the firm must refund the difference to its West Virginia customers plus 6 per cent interest.

Cumberland & Allegheny witnesses testified Monday afternoon after the utility completed its cross-examination of protestant and a PSC rate analyst.

Malcolm F. Orton, industrial utility consultant of Albany, N. Y., told the commission that an exhibit introduced at one of the earlier hearings by a PSC witness regarding 20 integrated companies could not be compared to the Columbia Gas System, parent of Cumberland & Allegheny.

Orton eliminated transmission firms and those doing less than $40,000,000 annual business from the list which had been introduced by James Honaker of Frankfort, Ky., a rate specialist.

Testimony also was offered by H. R. Weitzel, assistant chief engineer, and J. L. Stockhausen, rate engineer for C&A, both of Pittsburgh.

Stockhausen told the PSC his firm had granted wage increases amounting to $81,000 annually since the test year which ended July 31, 1957.

He said that should the PSC grant the entire increase, the firm still would have less than the 6¾ per cent rate of return it asked due to the wage boost.

In an earlier hearing, the PSC staff said C&A needed only $389,741 for a "fair" return of 6¼ per cent on its investment. Protestants claimed that an increase of $296,567 would provide the same percentage.

C&A Gas Co. Presents Rate Case To PSC

Seeks $665,000 Increase In W.Va.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Cumberland & Allegheny Gas Co., rested its case Monday before the Public Service Commission in hearings on an application for a $665,000 rate increase for its northeastern West Virginia customers.

The hearing was continued to Tuesday with the PSC staff reserving the right to give rebuttal testimony, on exhibits introduced by the utility Monday.

C&A filed for the increase late last year and put the higher rates into effect under bond April 22 to some 17,000 customers in the Keyser, Elkins and Buckhannon areas. Two other hearings had been held prior to Monday.

Should the Public Service Commission grant a rate increase which is less than that requested by C&A, the firm must refund the difference to its West Virginia customers plus 6 per cent interest.

Cumberland & Allegheny witnesses testified Monday afternoon after the utility completed its cross-examination of protestant and a PSC rate analyst.

Malcolm F. Orton, industrial utility consultant of Albany, N. Y., told the commission that an exhibit introduced at one of the earlier hearings by a PSC witness regarding 20 integrated companies could not be compared to the Columbia Gas System, parent of Cumberland & Allegheny.

Orton eliminated transmission firms and those doing less than $40,000,000 annual business from the list which had been introduced by James Honaker of Frankfort, Ky., a rate specialist.

Testimony also was offered by H. R. Weitzel, assistant chief engineer, and J. L. Stockhausen, rate engineer for C&A, both of Pittsburgh.

Stockhausen told the PSC his firm had granted wage increases amounting to $81,000 annually since the test year which ended July 31, 1957.

He said that should the PSC grant the entire increase, the firm still would have less than the 6¾ per cent rate of return it asked due to the wage boost.

In an earlier hearing, the PSC staff said C&A needed only $389,741 for a "fair" return of 6¼ per cent on its investment. Protestants claimed that an increase of $296,567 would provide the same percentage.

Area Lions Clubs Plan Coordination

Representatives of six local and area Lions Clubs will meet at Central YMCA Wednesday, July 30 at 7:30 p. m., in an effort to plan a coordinated, county-wide sight conservation program.

Sight conservation, a major Lions Club program, is conducted by the clubs in cooperation with local health and school officials.

According to Glenn K. Davis, Lions' deputy district governor and chairman of the Cumberland Lions' Sight Conservation Committee, the local club, LaVale, Potomac Valley (Cresaptown), Tri-Towns (Westernport, Luke, Piedmont), Lonaconing and Frostburg clubs will have representatives at next week's meeting. Dr. David Miller and Health Department officials also will attend.

It will mark the first time an effort has been made to coordinate the programs of the six clubs, each of which has had a program of its own.

Mr. Davis said the Lions have a good sight conservation program, but it is believed it can be better through a coordination of efforts.

Bunnies Give Game Warden A Rough Time

The prolific cottontail rabbit has become so great a problem in the Cumberland area that Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke has given up the idea of a vacation this summer.

Explaining that the terraced hillsides and ravines of Greater Cumberland provide an excelent habitat for many species of wildlife, Minke says this is especially true of the cottontail.

The abundant bunny is easily Cumberland's most numerous wildlife resident, Minke states, although it is not unusual to spot such fur-bearing animals as deer, raccoons, opossum, muskrat and an occasional mink.

The weasel and chipmunk are also rather common within the city's boundaries, as are squirrels, doves and the bob-white quail.

Minke inaugurated a city rabbit trapping campaign as early as 1936, engaging schoolboys in the trapping program. The rabbits taken are released in the wooded areas of the county, Minke explained.

In the 22 years since the plan was started, there have been more than 2,000 rabbits trapped. Of this number, Minke said some 1,400 were taken during the winter months by schoolboys, with a bounty of $1 paid for each one taken alive.

Despite the program, the bunny has increased so that a year-round program is necessary to keep the animal under control. Approximately 90 rabbits have been trapped in Cumberland and its suburbs since spring, Minke stated.

The trapping program for the youth of the area serves a three-fold purpose, the regional game warden explains. Not only does it keep the rabbits out of city gardens—where they do considerable damage, Minke said, but it provides youth of the area an opportunity early in life to participate in a wildlife conservation project, and at the same time to earn money. The program also provides sport for hunters in the fall hunting season.

In conclusion, Minke said participation by area youth can convert a troublesome problem into a worthwhile project.

Khrushchev Near Goal, Then Runs Wrong Way

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Nikita Khrushchev has now verified previous assessments that all he wanted out of a summit conference was to put President Eisenhower on the defensive in the propaganda war.

Faced with the prospects that that Kremlin's hand in stirring up Middle Eastern troubles would be thoroughly exposed at a meeting held under U.N. Security Council rules, he has now backed away from what appeared to be agreement on that procedure.

Khrushchev scored a propaganda victory when things were hot in the Middle East by trying to make it appear a big war was threatened and that he wanted drastic steps to avoid it.

By doubling back on his own trail, just when he had the Allies moving toward a conference they did not want, he damages his own case by overpressing.

When he accuses Eisenhower of not working for a settlement, he attacks the President's least vulnerable front in the eyes of the world. That is one thing the President is given credit for almost everywhere.

Khrushchev's latest attack, as so often in the history of the Kremlin, also comes at a time when Allied ranks are wavering and something was badly needed to stiffen the Baghdad pact after Iraq's defection.

Simultaneously with the Khrushchev statement, Secretary Dulles was telling the remaining Pact members in London that they, like Lebanon, could depend on support by the United States even at her own great risk.

That was something short of what they wanted to hear. They want the United States to accept full membership.

Unless the Pact is revised, however, to include a one-for-all and all-for-one clause which it does not have now, actual membership would mean little more than the Dulles statement. The United States is already participating in all but the formalities of membership.

If the United States decides that membership would be advantageous, however, and if Iraq does finally withdraw, the way would be a little more open than heretofore. One reason for nonmembership has been to avoid antagonizing the other Arab states by adding injury to the insult they took from Iraq's alignment with the West.

Khrushchev now indicates that he is far more interested in keeping the flames burning rather than have them smothered even temporarily by Anglo-American policy.

That will not be lost on the rest of the world.

Khrushchev had the ball on the Allied one-yard line. But he got so steamed up about running with it that he ran the wrong way.

Palomar Astronomers Looking Farther

By RALPH DIGHTON

PALOMAR, Calif. (AP)—For 10 years astronomers atop mile-high Palomar Mountain have been looking into space farther than man has even seen before.

Their window on the universe is the 200-inch Hale telescope, which went into the service of science a decade ago.

The crowning achievement of Palomar astronomers was discovery six years ago that the yardstick then employed for measuring outer space was cockeyed.

Dr. Walter Baade, who retired from the Palomar staff only last month, rocked the scientific world in 1952 by proving with the Hale instrument that the Andromeda Galaxy was twice as far away as measurements with smaller telescopes had indicated.

The distance from earth to Andromeda is the measure astronomers use to calculate the distance of all more remote stars. Recalibrating the yardstick so frastically meant that much of the universe was twice as far away, stars were twice as large, and the universe was twice as old as originally believed.

What is this tool, so sharp-eyed it can revolutionize man's thought about the universe?

Basically it's like most other telescopes, only bigger—the biggest in the world. When it was dedicated June 3, 1948, the more than 300 dignitaries seated on the observatory floor beneath its 200-inch mirror were drawfed. The 530-ton hunk of machinery towered above them like a giant grasshopper, reaching almost to the top of the 135-foot-high dome that protects the telescope from dust and temperature changes.

Its giant mirror catches light from distant stars and reflects it into a special camera. Because star light is so dim, time exposures lasting several hours must be made. The telescope is geared to stay focused on the distant target as the earth spins in orbit around the sun.

The mirror was cast in 1934 and after two years of cooling was sent by rail to California Institute of Technology in Pasadena, Calif. There optical experts spent 11 years grinding the glass disk to a concave shape and polishing it smooth. In 1947 it was trucked to the observatory here and given a reflective coating. Installed in the telescope, it began its career as a dindow to the stars early in 1948.

Simultaneously, a smaller instrument, the 48-inch Schmidt, was readied to help the 200-inch mirror scour the skies. The Schmidt can reach out into space only a third as far as the Hale, but it covers 800 times the area in a single photograph.

Area Lions Clubs Plan Coordination

Representatives of six local and area Lions Clubs will meet at Central YMCA Wednesday, July 30 at 7:30 p. m., in an effort to plan a coordinated, county-wide sight conservation program.

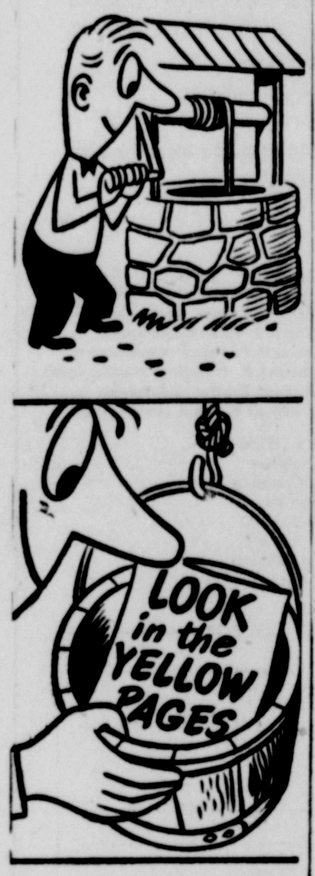

Sight conservation, a major Lions Club program, is conducted by the clubs in cooperation with local health and school officials.

According to Glenn K. Davis, Lions' deputy district governor and chairman of the Cumberland Lions' Sight Conservation Committee, the local club, LaVale, Potomac Valley (Cresaptown), Tri-Towns (Westernport, Luke, Piedmont), Lonaconing and Frostburg clubs will have representatives at next week's meeting. Dr. David Miller and Health Department officials also will attend.

It will mark the first time an effort has been made to coordinate the programs of the six clubs, each of which has had a program of its own.

Mr. Davis said the Lions have a good sight conservation program, but it is believed it can be better through a coordination of efforts.

West Virginia Opens Road Bids

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Bids will be received by the State Road Commission Tuesday on seven highway projects — including the first Interstate 70 work in the Northern Panhandle and two more Interstate 81 jobs in the Eastern Panhandle.

The initial Route 70 work involves construction of three-tenths of a mile of six-lane highway between Chantal Road and Washington Ave., near Wheeling.

The Interstate 81 projects include construction of overheads at Hainesville and Falling Waters in Berkeley County near Martinsburg.

The total cost of all seven projects in the letting is expected to amount to between 3 and 4 million dollars, the commission said.

Bunnies Give Game Warden A Rough Time

The prolific cottontail rabbit has become so great a problem in the Cumberland area that Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke has given up the idea of a vacation this summer.

Explaining that the terraced hillsides and ravines of Greater Cumberland provide an excelent habitat for many species of wildlife, Minke says this is especially true of the cottontail.

The abundant bunny is easily Cumberland's most numerous wildlife resident, Minke states, although it is not unusual to spot such fur-bearing animals as deer, raccoons, opossum, muskrat and an occasional mink.

The weasel and chipmunk are also rather common within the city's boundaries, as are squirrels, doves and the bob-white quail.

Minke inaugurated a city rabbit trapping campaign as early as 1936, engaging schoolboys in the trapping program. The rabbits taken are released in the wooded areas of the county, Minke explained.

In the 22 years since the plan was started, there have been more than 2,000 rabbits trapped. Of this number, Minke said some 1,400 were taken during the winter months by schoolboys, with a bounty of $1 paid for each one taken alive.

Despite the program, the bunny has increased so that a year-round program is necessary to keep the animal under control. Approximately 90 rabbits have been trapped in Cumberland and its suburbs since spring, Minke stated.

The trapping program for the youth of the area serves a three-fold purpose, the regional game warden explains. Not only does it keep the rabbits out of city gardens—where they do considerable damage, Minke said, but it provides youth of the area an opportunity early in life to participate in a wildlife conservation project, and at the same time to earn money. The program also provides sport for hunters in the fall hunting season.

In conclusion, Minke said participation by area youth can convert a troublesome problem into a worthwhile project.

Khrushchev Near Goal, Then Runs Wrong Way

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Nikita Khrushchev has now verified previous assessments that all he wanted out of a summit conference was to put President Eisenhower on the defensive in the propaganda war.

Faced with the prospects that that Kremlin's hand in stirring up Middle Eastern troubles would be thoroughly exposed at a meeting held under U.N. Security Council rules, he has now backed away from what appeared to be agreement on that procedure.

Khrushchev scored a propaganda victory when things were hot in the Middle East by trying to make it appear a big war was threatened and that he wanted drastic steps to avoid it.

By doubling back on his own trail, just when he had the Allies moving toward a conference they did not want, he damages his own case by overpressing.

When he accuses Eisenhower of not working for a settlement, he attacks the President's least vulnerable front in the eyes of the world. That is one thing the President is given credit for almost everywhere.

Khrushchev's latest attack, as so often in the history of the Kremlin, also comes at a time when Allied ranks are wavering and something was badly needed to stiffen the Baghdad pact after Iraq's defection.

Simultaneously with the Khrushchev statement, Secretary Dulles was telling the remaining Pact members in London that they, like Lebanon, could depend on support by the United States even at her own great risk.

That was something short of what they wanted to hear. They want the United States to accept full membership.

Unless the Pact is revised, however, to include a one-for-all and all-for-one clause which it does not have now, actual membership would mean little more than the Dulles statement. The United States is already participating in all but the formalities of membership.

If the United States decides that membership would be advantageous, however, and if Iraq does finally withdraw, the way would be a little more open than heretofore. One reason for nonmembership has been to avoid antagonizing the other Arab states by adding injury to the insult they took from Iraq's alignment with the West.

Khrushchev now indicates that he is far more interested in keeping the flames burning rather than have them smothered even temporarily by Anglo-American policy.

That will not be lost on the rest of the world.

Khrushchev had the ball on the Allied one-yard line. But he got so steamed up about running with it that he ran the wrong way.

Palomar Astronomers Looking Farther

By RALPH DIGHTON

PALOMAR, Calif. (AP)—For 10 years astronomers atop mile-high Palomar Mountain have been looking into space farther than man has even seen before.

Their window on the universe is the 200-inch Hale telescope, which went into the service of science a decade ago.

The crowning achievement of Palomar astronomers was discovery six years ago that the yardstick then employed for measuring outer space was cockeyed.

Dr. Walter Baade, who retired from the Palomar staff only last month, rocked the scientific world in 1952 by proving with the Hale instrument that the Andromeda Galaxy was twice as far away as measurements with smaller telescopes had indicated.

The distance from earth to Andromeda is the measure astronomers use to calculate the distance of all more remote stars. The East-West Summit Conference

At least we're being consistent. In telling Premier Khrushchev that the summit conference on the Middle East must wait until several weeks of spadework have been done on it, we're taking the stand we've taken ever since the Geneva conference of heads of state in the summer of 1955 proved a flop.

Almost immediately after Stalin died in March 1953, the Russians began to propose East-West summit conferences. They redoubled their proposals in the summer of 1954 as the European security and German rearmament agreements were on the point of being ratified.

The West, deeming the Russian proposals—along with more friendly Russian attitudes in U.N. and in Western capitals—merely moves to prevent the security and German agreements, said in effect, "Not just yet." When those agreements were finally out of the way, the West said, "All right: now."

At Geneva in 1955 the favorable climate did seem to engender understandings on German reunification, disarmament and atomic testing, security from and for Russia, a neutral zone in Europe. But when the Big Four foreign ministers convened on the following Oct. 27 to implement these purported understandings, they found them only the old impasses. That had been the same unhappy story from the previous summit conference, at Potsdam in 1945.

So Secretary Dulles took the position that any summit conference should be held, not before, but after painstaking negotiations, as when the Austrian peace treaty was finally signed in 1955. And this year the Kremlin, after repeatedly proposing a top conference, did agree to preliminary discussions on its substance. These discussions opened in Moscow on April 17 with the U.S. and British ambassadors, but have so far made little or no headway.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Supporting Friends

American policy, since the end of the war, has been one of placating enemies, often buying them off, and neglecting friends. As a result, we are weak in friendships, many of our so-called friends actually being neutral; we have many enemies.

The Administration of the United Nations, which should have no policy at all and which should exist for housekeeping purposes only, does have a policy. It is that of preserving the United Nations at any cost, even at the cost of demoralizing nation after nation. In the case of Lebanon, for instance, the fact is that Lebanon is a member of the United Nations, is a sovereign state and as such is the equal of every other member of the United Nations. But the United Nations, in the Lebanese rebellion, has made no distinction between the Government of a member country and the enemy states which are supporting, fomenting and arming a rebellion in Lebanon.

No Lebanese will agree that Dag Hammarskjold is impartial as between Lebanon and Egypt or can it be said that he is impartial as between Egypt and Israel. If he is objective and impartial, he has not displayed these qualities, keeping them a dark, diplomatic secret. Perhaps this is United Nations policy which its Secretary General is carrying out, namely that the peace of the world can best be maintained by destroying small states because they become targets in the Russian or Arabic or Chinese march of imperialism. The paradox of our age is the rise of imperialism while all the world is talking about a universal peace.

Khrushchev, who heads the fastest moving imperialistic effort of these times, accuses the United States of imperialism. Speaking at a Kremlin dinner, he said:

"The ruling circles of the imperialist camp also, of course, have some kind of common views. Their (minds?) work in a single direction—how to wipe the socialist state off the face of the earth and destroy communism as the outlook of hundreds of millions of workers; how to perpetuate exploitation and oppression of the working people. But just as nature did not destine pigs to look up at the sky, so the schemes of the imperialists to destroy the countries of socialism are not destined to succeed."

Apparently, it is perfectly proper for the Kremlin to destroy the countries which are not socialistic, to intrigue against governments with which it has treaties of friendship, but it becomes a heinous offense to assist once sovereign and free peoples to liberate themselves from Soviet tyranny. Thus far, some 15 or 16 countries have been absorbed in the Soviet Universal State, but not a single country has been conquered by the United States. On the contrary, since World War II, the United States has given the Philippines independence and Puerto Rico dominion status which in many respects is more advantageous than independence.

Khrushchev, in this particular speech, said:

"The friendship and unity of the socialist countries is based on a different foundation. The peoples of our countries have set themselves the aim of creating a classless society which excludes exploitation of man by man, which has no division of people into rich and poor, and in which there will be an abundance of everything necessary to man—a society in which science and technology, literature and art will achieve an unprecedented state of development. And the closer our countries stand together, the more solidly we unite our efforts and help one another, the sooner communism will triumph."

These are beautiful but meaningless words. Art and science are universal and have nothing to do with socialism or nationalism. We read Tolstoy and Dostoevsky; the Russians read Mark Twain and Jack London; Shakespeare and Goethe belong to mankind; Beethoven, Tchaikovsky, Bach, Mozart, Rimsky-Korsakov have produced for the universe. Edison's electric light burns equally in a palace and a hut, in China, Pakistan, Moscow or New York. The atom and hydrogen bombs will kill us all without regard to nationality or benefit us all. Khrushchev, however, lives on promises which to those who are without many of the benefits that we already enjoy, afford a swift glance into a heaven on earth to come. That particular kind of life can be found in New York, London, Paris, Bonn and hundreds of other cities in the Western world.

AEC Would Rather Cancel Test Of 'Clean' H-Bomb Next Month

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Here is the inside story behind the recent announcement that there would be no public demonstration of the "clean" H-bomb.

President Eisenhower hadn't known it, but the Atomic Energy Commission had tried three times to get him to call off the demonstration of its so-called "clean" H-bomb next month.

Each time, the palace guard that stands between Ike and government agencies has bounced the request back. White House advisers have told the Atomic Energy Commission that in view of all the fanfare over the "clean" bomb, it's too late to back out

The idea of showing off a "clean" H-bomb to the world was promoted by Adm. Lewis Strauss who retired last month as Atomic Energy Chairman. Now that he has been dropped, the other commissioners would like to drop his idea.

What our atomic scientists fear is that the so-called "clean" bomb will kick up just as much poisonous radioactivity as the dirty models. Radioactive fall-out has been reduced in the trigger mechanism, but the hydrogen explosion itself may activate the surrounding elements and thus create a great deal of radioactivity.

It hasn't been announced, but the Defense Department rejected one of Strauss's "clean" bombs on the ground it would spread too much radioactive fall-out for military use.

The AEC is also embarrassed over the attitude of foreign experts who have been invited to witness the demonstration. The communist countries have refused to send representatives on the grounds it will be a "propaganda show." Even friendly countries have expressed skepticism, including our neighbors to the north. The Canadians replied frankly that they would rather not attend but would put in an appearance, if we insisted, in order to save American face.

Hagerty-Pearson Box-Score

Peter Kumpa of the Baltimore Sun was quizzing Jim Hagerty at one of Hagerty's White House press conferences the other day.

"Jim," he asked, "back on June 17 you gave us a list of 10 falsehoods that you said Mr. Drew Pearson made in one of his columns. One of these 10 falsehoods said that Bernard Goldfine had paid for two suits bought at Faber's of Boston for Governor Adams. Yet on the stand Mr. Goldfine testified that he had paid for the suits and had further deducted these as a business expense. I just wonder if . . . what you had to say about that?"

Hagerty: "Nothing."

Kumpa: "Does that make nine falsehoods?"

Hagerty: "No—I have nothing."

Indians At White House

The Hebert Armed Services subcommittee was investigating the "influence" activity of Sherman Adams behind tightly closed doors and asked William Lyons, former chief recorder of the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals, about a $41,294 government refund awarded Raylaine Worsteds after Adams intervened for the New Hampshire textile firm.

"Besides the Adams inquiry, were there any other communications from the White House?" Lyons was asked. "Did you receive any phone calls regarding this case from the White House?"

"Yes, I got one phone call," replied the witness.

"Who was it from?"

"It was from one of the squaws and Indians down there," said Lyons with a straight face.

When Does Congress Adjourn?

President Eisenhower told Republican Congressional leaders that there was "no practical reason" to prolong the adjournment of Congress if the crisis in the Middle East continued to lessen.

Meeting privately with GOP leaders he explained that prolonging adjournment might scare the public into thinking it was necessary to keep Congress in session on a standby "emergency" basis.

Eisenhower reiterated his belief that Russia would not attempt to provoke a general conflict in the Middle East, though he was unable to tell the leaders when it would be possible to witdraw U. S. forces from Lebanon or British troops from Jordan.

GOP leader Joe Martin of Massachusetts inquired if August 9 would be a set "target" date for adjournment, explaining that by this time Congress would have completed action on major bills and appropriations.

"That's all right with me," agreed Ike.

He added that he could keep in touch with the Congressional leaders of both parties by telephone, perhaps even ask them to come to Washington for occasional consultation on the Near East.

"However, I am hopeful that nothing will transpire during adjournment to make this necessary," he added.

Khrushchev's Proposal Was Threat Of Force

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

Much too little attention has been paid to the most ominous single aspect of all the dark and ominous events of the past fortnight. In brief, the British and Amreican Governments agreed to Nikita Khrushchev's proposal for a summit meeting under a naked threat of force.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, playing his peculiar role of the only tussock in the local swamp, did not wish to do this. In former times, no self-respecting government would have accepted a note from another government containing such a crude threat as Khrushchev's reminder that "the Soviet Union possesses atomic and hydrogen bombs, an air force and a navy, plus ballistic missiles of all types, including intercontinental ones." Such a note would have been coldly returned to the Ambassador who presented it; and this is what Dulles wished to do with the Khrushchev note.

As everyone knows by now, Dulles was restrained from following this old-fashioned impulse. Prime Minister Macmillan and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd were determined to accept Khrushchev's invitation, although Lloyd ruefully admitted that the language was somewhat impolite. The President, apparently, was enough in two minds about the matter to prevent Dulles from fighting for his own viewpoint. So the American Government agreed to follow the British Government to the monstrous summit rally that is now planned.

The least bad result will be to add public humiliation to the great defeat the western nations have already suffered in the Middle East. For the British, moreover, the results can be much worse than this.

Britain's only Middle Eastern policy now consists of a desperate resolve to hold the little, oil-rich sheikhdoms of the Persian Gulf at all costs, and by military occupation if need be. This is not the sort of policy that is aided by public palaver, even with friends. Khrushchev and Nasser are not friends. They will surely seek to frustrate the British policy, and they will have many opportunities to do so.

Why on earth, then, were the normally sensible British leaders so anxious to expose themselves in this seemingly lunatic manner?

The answer is not that Macmillan and Lloyd were directly intimidated by Khrushchev's menaces, any more than Dulles was intimidated. But the menaces are still the key to the answer. For Macmillan and Lloyd were in fact responding to the British public's passionate hankering for another summit rally, This hankering began after the warning of the Soviet sputniks. It was, and it still is a kind of automatic reflex, provoked by Britain's awareness of those "atomic and hydrogen bombs. . . (and) ballistic missiles of all kinds, including intercontinental ones" that Khrushchev boasted about.

A similar reflex caused the whole British people to applaud Neville Chamberlain's journey to Munich; and the upset of the balance of power that produced Munich was primarily the fault of the British Government. The pattern this time has been unpleasantly similar. But this time the upset of the balance of power has been the fault of the American Government.

In these circumstances, it is no use blaming the British for an instinctive reflex which is also beginning to be noticeable in some quarters in this country. The only useful thing to do is to look at the first cause. We could not of course have halted the progress of Soviet weaponry. But we could at least have made the needful effort to maintain the American lead, which still existed in 1953. If we had maintained that lead, there would be no Munich-psychology in Britain or anywhere else, and Nikita Khrushchev would not be indulging in crude, open threats, either.

Instead, we permitted the American lead to be transformed into a Soviet lead. Right there is the first cause of the recent catastrophe in the Middle East, and the present disarray of our diplomacy.

Furthermore this is a moment that reminds one of the famous question Winston Churchill asked long before the first Soviet atomic bomb was tested: "If this is what they do in the green wood, then what will they do in the dry?" For the warning of the sputnik has not been heeded by the American policy-makers. No real effort is being made to prevent the Soviet lead from widening still further; it is in fact widening at a terrifying rate. No graver statement, more directly contradictory of the promises of our leaders, could be made at this time. But hard proof will be offered in the next report in this space.

Back To Work

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK—My father used to say, "Son," as he called me for short, "remember two things: never shake hands with an undertaker, and if you're coming back to work after a long layoff always start at the Summit."

Where else?

A reporter approaches the impending Summit conference with a breath best described as bated. Never in its trying life—and its life of only half trying—will UN be as sorely tested as a peace-sealing organization as when (and if) the greats use it for their Middle East talks. The world organization's well-wishers and professional apologists have excused its failures on the ground that its negotiators have customarily been men of rather small standing in their respective governments and, therefore, incapable of decisive action.

If the big fellows do no better, come no closer to providing mankind with its first good night's sleep in a long time, we wonder if the prestige of UN can ever be restored. By the same token, if they achieve anything that even looks like a lasting solution to the appalling confusion, greed, hatred and neglect of the Middle East, UN will enter a period warranting the respect of millions of its disparagers.

It's yes or no for UN now. A fretful world can't stand still for "maybe."

Congratulations to Marian Anderson, Redwood City (Cal.) lawyer Herman Phleger, George McGregor Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, businessman Watson W. Wise of Tyler, Tex., and other fine Americans named by President Eisenhower as new members of the American delegation of the UN General Assembly.

What's wrong with Douglas MacArthur? The President's one-time commanding officer (and, later, political opponent) has an infinitely profounder knowledge of the diplomatic blunders that lead to wars than the delegates named—as the delegates themselves would agree.

The President takes no exception to the unhappy tradition that relegates good men to the ash heap, once out of the political spotlight. In times like these when the whole complex world and all its peoples affect life in the United States, we could use all the savvy and experience in our work pool. I'd bet that Douglas MacArthur and Harry S. Truman would share an office in Washington today, if invited to pitch in and help.

When the Marines went into Beirut wired MacArthur asking for a statement. The former Supreme Commander, now a big man in Univacs and electric razors, replied:

"How come you are not there at ringside rooting for the home team? No comments from an old pro who knows just how it feels. Regards — Douglas MacArthur."

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Endometriosis is most prevalent in married women of more than average means who have avoided pregnancy. This is one reason why many physicians recommend early childbearing.

In endometriosis, cells that resemble those lining the inside of the uterus invade the organs of the abdominal cavity. These cells irritate the intestine and rectum, crowd the pelvic organs, and interfere with the reproductive function.

Symptoms are most noticeable during the menstrual period, because the misplaced cells go through the same change as their sister cells in the uterus. It is at this time that most victims complain of pelvic pain and distress when moving the bowel.

There is no agreement on how the cells reach the abdominal cavity. Vehement arguments occur among physicians whenever the subject is mentioned. The retrograde flow theory is easiest to understand. Some of the uterine cells go the wrong way during menstruation and escape into the abdomial cavity via the fallopian tubes.

They adhere to the intestine, pelvic organs, and ligaments where they continue to live under the influence of the ovarian hormone. Their subsequent growth and development follows the same pattern as when they lined the inside of the uterus.

Treatment depends upon the severity of the condition. The physician may suggest to the younger woman who wants children eventually that she may have them as soon as possible. Further procrastination may lead to infertility.

During pregnancy, the ovaries fail to secrete the hormone that causes congestion in the transplanted cells. Many women obtain relief for months or years after having a child. The wife who cannot conceive may need a hormone, such as stilbestrol; this product creates a state that mimics the glandular changes achieved by pregnancy.

Surgery is required when these measures fail and discomfort is marked. Conservative procedures help in some. Others require an extensive operation to remove the displaced cells along with the uterus and ovaries.

The East-West Summit Conference

At least we're being consistent. In telling Premier Khrushchev that the summit conference on the Middle East must wait until several weeks of spadework have been done on it, we're taking the stand we've taken ever since the Geneva conference of heads of state in the summer of 1955 proved a flop.

Almost immediately after Stalin died in March 1953, the Russians began to propose East-West summit conferences. They redoubled their proposals in the summer of 1954 as the European security and German rearmament agreements were on the point of being ratified.

The West, deeming the Russian proposals—along with more friendly Russian attitudes in U.N. and in Western capitals—merely moves to prevent the security and German agreements, said in effect, "Not just yet." When those agreements were finally out of the way, the West said, "All right: now."

At Geneva in 1955 the favorable climate did seem to engender understandings on German reunification, disarmament and atomic testing, security from and for Russia, a neutral zone in Europe. But when the Big Four foreign ministers convened on the following Oct. 27 to implement these purported understandings, they found them only the old impasses. That had been the same unhappy story from the previous summit conference, at Potsdam in 1945.

So Secretary Dulles took the position that any summit conference should be held, not before, but after painstaking negotiations, as when the Austrian peace treaty was finally signed in 1955. And this year the Kremlin, after repeatedly proposing a top conference, did agree to preliminary discussions on its substance. These discussions opened in Moscow on April 17 with the U.S. and British ambassadors, but have so far made little or no headway.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Supporting Friends

American policy, since the end of the war, has been one of placating enemies, often buying them off, and neglecting friends. As a result, we are weak in friendships, many of our so-called friends actually being neutral; we have many enemies.

The Administration of the United Nations, which should have no policy at all and which should exist for housekeeping purposes only, does have a policy. It is that of preserving the United Nations at any cost, even at the cost of demoralizing nation after nation. In the case of Lebanon, for instance, the fact is that Lebanon is a member of the United Nations, is a sovereign state and as such is the equal of every other member of the United Nations. But the United Nations, in the Lebanese rebellion, has made no distinction between the Government of a member country and the enemy states which are supporting, fomenting and arming a rebellion in Lebanon.

No Lebanese will agree that Dag Hammarskjoid is impartial as between Lebanon and Egypt or can it be said that he is impartial as between Egypt and Israel. If he is objective and impartial, he has not displayed these qualities, keeping them a dark, diplomatic secret. Perhaps this is United Nations policy which its Secretary General is carrying out, namely that the peace of the world can best be maintained by destroying small states because they become targets in the Russian or Arabic or Chinese march of imperialism. The paradox of our age is the rise of imperialism while all the world is talking about a universal peace.

Khrushchev, who heads the fastest moving imperialistic effort of these times, accuses the United States of imperialism. Speaking at a Kremlin dinner, he said:

"The ruling circles of the imperialist camp also, of course, have some kind of common views. Their (minds?) work in a single direction—how to wipe the socialist state off the face of the earth and destroy communism as the outlook of hundreds of millions of workers; how to perpetuate exploitation and oppression of the working people. But just as nature did not destine pigs to look up at the sky, so the schemes of the imperialists to destroy the countries of socialism are not destined to succeed."

Apparently, it is perfectly proper for the Kremlin to destroy the countries which are not socialistic, to intrigue against governments with which it has treaties of friendship, but it becomes a heinous offense to assist once sovereign and free peoples to liberate themselves from Soviet tyranny. Thus far, some 15 or 16 countries have been absorbed in the Soviet Universal State, but not a single country has been conquered by the United States. On the contrary, since World War II, the United States has given the Philippines independence and Puerto Rico dominion status which in many respects is more advantageous than independence.

Khrushchev, in this particular speech, said:

"The friendship and unity of the socialist countries is based on a different foundation. The peoples of our countries have set themselves the aim of creating a classless society which excludes exploitation of man by man, which has no division of people into rich and poor, and in which there will be an abundance of everything necessary to man—a society in which science and technology, literature and art will achieve an unprecedented state of development. And the closer our countries stand together, the more solidly we unite our efforts and help one another, the sooner communism will triumph."

These are beautiful but meaningless words. Art and science are universal and have nothing to do with socialism or nationalism. We read Tolstoy and Dostoevsky; the Russians read Mark Twain and Jack London; Shakespeare and Goethe belong to mankind; Beethoven, Tchaikovsky, Bach, Mozart, Rimsky-Korsakov have produced for the universe. Edison's electric light burns equally in a palace and a hut, in China, Pakistan, Moscow or New York. The atom and hydrogen bombs will kill us all without regard to nationality or benefit us all. Khrushchev, however, lives on promises which to those who are without many of the benefits that we already enjoy, afford a swift glance into a heaven on earth to come. That particular kind of life can be found in New York, London, Paris, Bonn and hundreds of other cities in the Western world.

AEC Would Rather Cancel Test Of 'Clean' H-Bomb Next Month

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Here is the inside story behind the recent announcement that there would be no public demonstration of the "clean" H-bomb.

President Eisenhower hadn't known it, but the Atomic Energy Commission had tried three times to get him to call off the demonstration of its so-called "clean" H-bomb next month.

Each time, the palace guard that stands between Ike and government agencies has bounced the request back. White House advisers have told the Atomic Energy Commission that in view of all the fanfare over the "clean" bomb, it's too late to back out

The idea of showing off a "clean" H-bomb to the world was promoted by Adm. Lewis Strauss who retired last month as Atomic Energy Chairman. Now that he has been dropped, the other commissioners would like to drop his idea.

What our atomic scientists fear is that the so-called "clean" bomb will kick up just as much poisonous radioactivity as the dirty models. Radioactive fall-out has been reduced in the trigger mechanism, but the hydrogen explosion itself may activate the surrounding elements and thus create a great deal of radioactivity.

It hasn't been announced, but the Defense Department rejected one of Strauss's "clean" bombs on the ground it would spread too much radioactive fall-out for military use.

The AEC is also embarrassed over the attitude of foreign experts who have been invited to witness the demonstration. The communist countries have refused to send representatives on the grounds it will be a "propaganda show." Even friendly countries have expressed skepticism, including our neighbors to the north. The Canadians replied frankly that they would rather not attend but would put in an appearance, if we insisted, in order to save American face.

Hagerty-Pearson Box-Score

Peter Kumpa of the Baltimore Sun was quizzing Jim Hagerty at one of Hagerty's White House press conferences the other day.

"Jim," he asked, "back on June 17 you gave us a list of 10 falsehoods that you said Mr. Drew Pearson made in one of his columns. One of these 10 falsehoods said that Bernard Goldfine had paid for two suits bought at Faber's of Boston for Governor Adams. Yet on the stand Mr. Goldfine testified that he had paid for the suits and had further deducted these as a business expense. I just wonder if . . . what you had to say about that?"

Hagerty: "Nothing."

Kumpa: "Does that make nine falsehoods?"

Hagerty: "No—I have nothing."

Indians At White House

The Hebert Armed Services subcommittee was investigating the "influence" activity of Sherman Adams behind tightly closed doors and asked William Lyons, former chief recorder of the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals, about a $41,294 government refund awarded Raylaine Worsteds after Adams intervened for the New Hampshire textile firm.

"Besides the Adams inquiry, were there any other communications from the White House?" Lyons was asked. "Did you receive any phone calls regarding this case from the White House?"

"Yes, I got one phone call," replied the witness.

"Who was it from?"

"It was from one of the squaws and Indians down there," said Lyons with a straight face.

When Does Congress Adjourn?

President Eisenhower told Republican Congressional leaders that there was "no practical reason" to prolong the adjournment of Congress if the crisis in the Middle East continued to lessen.

Meeting privately with GOP leaders he explained that prolonging adjournment might scare the public into thinking it was necessary to keep Congress in session on a standby "emergency" basis.

Eisenhower reiterated his belief that Russia would not attempt to provoke a general conflict in the Middle East, though he was unable to tell the leaders when it would be possible to witdraw U. S. forces from Lebanon or British troops from Jordan.

GOP leader Joe Martin of Massachusetts inquired if August 9 would be a set "target" date for adjournment, explaining that by this time Congress would have completed action on major bills and appropriations.

"That's all right with me," agreed Ike.

He added that he could keep in touch with the Congressional leaders of both parties by telephone, perhaps even ask them to come to Washington for occasional consultation on the Near East.

"However, I am hopeful that nothing will transpire during adjournment to make this necessary," he added.

Khrushchev's Proposal Was Threat Of Force

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

Much too little attention has been paid to the most ominous single aspect of all the dark and ominous events of the past fortnight. In brief, the British and Amreican Governments agreed to Nikita Khrushchev's proposal for a summit meeting under a naked threat of force.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, playing his peculiar role of the only tussock in the local swamp, did not wish to do this. In former times, no self-respecting government would have accepted a note from another government containing such a crude threat as Khrushchev's reminder that "the Soviet Union possesses atomic and hydrogen bombs, an air force and a navy, plus ballistic missiles of all types, including intercontinental ones." Such a note would have been coldly returned to the Ambassador who presented it; and this is what Dulles wished to do with the Khrushchev note.

As everyone knows by now, Dulles was restrained from following this old-fashioned impulse. Prime Minister Macmillan and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd were determined to accept Khrushchev's invitation, although Lloyd ruefully admitted that the language was somewhat impolite. The President, apparently, was enough in two minds about the matter to prevent Dulles from fighting for his own viewpoint. So the American Government agreed to follow the British Government to the monstrous summit rally that is now planned.

The least bad result will be to add public humiliation to the great defeat the western nations have already suffered in the Middle East. For the British, moreover, the results can be much worse than this.

Britain's only Middle Eastern policy now consists of a desperate resolve to hold the little, oil-rich sheikhdoms of the Persian Gulf at all costs, and by military occupation if need be. This is not the sort of policy that is aided by public palaver, even with friends. Khrushchev and Nasser are not friends. They will surely seek to frustrate the British policy, and they will have many opportunities to do so.

Why on earth, then, were the normally sensible British leaders so anxious to expose themselves in this seemingly lunatic manner?

The answer is not that Macmillan and Lloyd were directly intimidated by Khrushchev's menaces, any more than Dulles was intimidated. But the menaces are still the key to the answer. For Macmillan and Lloyd were in fact responding to the British public's passionate hankering for another summit rally, This hankering began after the warning of the Soviet sputniks. It was, and it still is a kind of automatic reflex, provoked by Britain's awareness of those "atomic and hydrogen bombs. . . (and) ballistic missiles of all kinds, including intercontinental ones" that Khrushchev boasted about.

A similar reflex caused the whole British people to applaud Neville Chamberlain's journey to Munich; and the upset of the balance of power that produced Munich was primarily the fault of the British Government. The pattern this time has been unpleasantly similar. But this time the upset of the balance of power has been the fault of the American Government.

In these circumstances, it is no use blaming the British for an instinctive reflex which is also beginning to be noticeable in some quarters in this country. The only useful thing to do is to look at the first cause. We could not of course have halted the progress of Soviet weaponry. But we could at least have made the needful effort to maintain the American lead, which still existed in 1953. If we had maintained that lead, there would be no Munich-psychology in Britain or anywhere else, and Nikita Khrushchev would not be indulging in crude, open threats, either.

Instead, we permitted the American lead to be transformed into a Soviet lead. Right there is the first cause of the recent catastrophe in the Middle East, and the present disarray of our diplomacy.

Furthermore this is a moment that reminds one of the famous question Winston Churchill asked long before the first Soviet atomic bomb was tested: "If this is what they do in the green wood, then what will they do in the dry?" For the warning of the sputnik has not been heeded by the American policy-makers. No real effort is being made to prevent the Soviet lead from widening still further; it is in fact widening at a terrifying rate. No graver statement, more directly contradictory of the promises of our leaders, could be made at this time. But hard proof will be offered in the next report in this space.

Back To Work

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK—My father used to say, "Son," as he called me for short, "remember two things: never shake hands with an undertaker, and if you're coming back to work after a long layoff always start at the Summit."

Where else?

A reporter approaches the impending Summit conference with a breath best described as bated. Never in its trying life—and its life of only half trying—will UN be as sorely tested as a peace-sealing organization as when (and if) the greats use it for their Middle East talks. The world organization's well-wishers and professional apologists have excused its failures on the ground that its negotiators have customarily been men of rather small standing in their respective governments and, therefore, incapable of decisive action.

If the big fellows do no better, come no closer to providing mankind with its first good night's sleep in a long time, we wonder if the prestige of UN can ever be restored. By the same token, if they achieve anything that even looks like a lasting solution to the appalling confusion, greed, hatred and neglect of the Middle East, UN will enter a period warranting the respect of millions of its disparagers.

It's yes or no for UN now. A fretful world can't stand still for "maybe."

Congratulations to Marian Anderson, Redwood City (Cal.) lawyer Herman Phleger, George McGregor Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, businessman Watson W. Wise of Tyler, Tex., and other fine Americans named by President Eisenhower as new members of the American delegation of the UN General Assembly.

What's wrong with Douglas MacArthur? The President's one-time commanding officer (and, later, political opponent) has an infinitely profounder knowledge of the diplomatic blunders that lead to wars than the delegates named—as the delegates themselves would agree.

The President takes no exception to the unhappy tradition that relegates good men to the ash heap, once out of the political spotlight. In times like these when the whole complex world and all its peoples affect life in the United States, we could use all the savvy and experience in our work pool. I'd bet that Douglas MacArthur and Harry S. Truman would share an office in Washington today, if invited to pitch in and help.

When the Marines went into Beirut wired MacArthur asking for a statement. The former Supreme Commander, now a big man in Univacs and electric razors, replied:

"How come you are not there at ringside rooting for the home team? No comments from an old pro who knows just how it feels. Regards — Douglas MacArthur."

Frederick, Cumberland Legion Teams To Clash Saturday

Teams Clash In Twin Bill At Stitcher

Best-Of-3 Series Winner To Advance To State Tourney

Francis Scott Key Post, of Frederick, and Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, will clash here Saturday in a doubleheader to determine which team shall represent Western Maryland in the Maryland Department American Legion junior baseball championship tournament at College Park August 7 through 10.

Frederick, managed by John B. Price, and Cumberland, skippered by George Zegles with Frank Zahradka as coach, will meet in a double elimination series, the first two games of which will be staged Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Stitcher Field. If one of the teams should sweep both games here it will qualify for a berth in the state tourney.

In event the teams split their twin bill here, the third and deciding game of the series will be staged at Frederick, probably on Sunday or on Tuesday, August 5. The state tourney is also a double elimination affair.

Frederick won the Maryland state title last year and last Saturday won the Western Maryland District League crown by crushing Morris Frock Post of Hagerstown, 16 to 1. In the league, Francis Scott Key Post wound up with a 10-2 record to nose out Westminster for the championship.

Fort Cumberland Post is the only post in Mountain District, comprising Garrett and Allegany counties, to field a team this year. The locals have participated in five practice contests.

Fifteen players appearing on the local roster are:

CATCHERS—Gary Clingerman, Cresaptown; Gary Wolford, Cumberland.

College Grid Coaches Call Pro Draft Unfair

Wilkinson, Wyatt, Daugherty Oppose Special Treatment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three top college coaches Monday kicked off on pro football's draft. They called it unfair to the players and said it's not true that the pros need it to survive.

Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson, one of the three who testified before Senate sports investigators, said regardless of the draft only players of rare ability should undertake the professional game.

Either those, Wilkinson told the Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee, or athletes with a definite goal who play for pay in order to finance graduate education.

"Beyond that," Wilkinson said, "anyone who plays is making a bad mistake."

Wilkinson, who has directed Oklahoma to three national collegiate championships, was the first to blast the National Football League's draft. Then came Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State and Bowden Wyatt of Tennessee. Each teaches a different style of offense but each three the same kind of attack on the system whereby NFL clubs gain exclusive bargaining rights for designated collegians.

They declared it prevents young men from marketing their talent for the highest price. They also disagreed with the contention of NFL Commissioner Bert Bell and other advocates that pro football needs the draft to equalize team strengths.

In essence, they argued it's almost impossible to appraise collegians accurately. . .there's too little difference in the ability or potential of college players. . . there are too few vacancies each year for any one club to buy up the best players and create a monopoly in football skill.

All three coaches opposed House-passed legislation to give pro football, baseball, basketball and hockey sweeping exemptions from the antitrust laws. They said professional sports are businesses and saw no reason for special treatment.

Westernport Beats 'Coney In Eighth, 3-2

Bobby Raines' Hit Nets Marple Win

Bobby Raines' two-run single in the top of the eighth inning gave Westernport a 3-2 decision over Lonaconing in a Twilight Baseball League battle yesterday at Lonaconing.

"Ike" Love of Lonaconing forced the game into an extra inning when he blasted a homer in the last of the 7th frame.

An error, walk and Junie Perry's single gave Westernport a 1-0 lead in the first inning.

Lonaconing gave the visitors a scare in the bottom of the eighth by scoring one run when E. Spiker singled, Jerry Lancaster was safe on an error and Cliff Preston, batting for Amoruso, singled. Cokie Robertson singled to center but the rally died when Eddie Hayes, running for Preston, fell down after rounding third base and was cut down at the plate.

The win was the third straight for Dave Marple against no losses. Lancaster's record is now 3-3. Each pitcher fanned five.

Raines was the only player to obtain more than one hit. He obtained a pair of singles.

Major Player Shakeup Announced By Dodgers

Birrer Purchased, Two Are Optioned, McDevitt Recalled

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Dodgers announced a major player shakeup Monday in the light of a report that manager Walter Alston was on his way out unless the team started winning consistently in the next 10 days.

General manager Buzzy Bavasi announced Monday afternoon:

—Optioning of rookie third baseman Dick Gray to St. Paul of the American Association.

—The recall from St. Paul of hurler Danny McDevitt, who was with the Dodgers at the start of the season and was shipped to the farm club with a record of 1-3. McDevitt has amassed a record of 9-4 thus far this season with St. Paul.

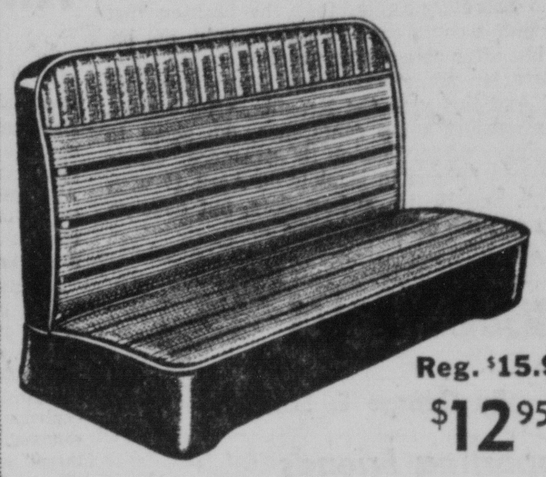

—Purchase of hurler Werner (Babe) Birrer from Montreal. He joins the Dodgers in Milwaukee Tuesday.

—Recall from St. Paul of infielder Bobby Lillis. Lillis, who is currently sidelined with an injured ankle, will join the Dodgers on their return to Los Angeles Aug. 8.

Bavasi, in making the "wholesale" shift of personnel, again emphasized that Alston was not going to be replaced with coach Charley Dressen, "or anyone else."

The genial Dodger boss said that Roebuck had requested retirement and that baseball commissioner Ford Frick had approved the request earlier Monday.

Giants Grab Double Bill

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The second-place San Francisco Giants took advantage of a ninth inning error in the first game and a gilt-edged pitching performance by right-hander Ruben Gomez in the second as they beat the Philadelphia Phillies 3-2 and 2-1 Monday night to move within one percentage point of the National League lead.

Tied 2-2 in the twi-night affair, the Giants won in the ninth inning for the 17th time this season. They needed help from Philadelphia relief pitcher Dick Farrell who obliged by dropping the ball on a routine play at first base while Danny O'Connell scored the winning run.

In the second game, the Giants picked up single runs off pitcher Jack Meyer in the second on two singles and in the sixth on a double and single. Other than that the San Francisco bats were mute as Meyer struck out 12 and allowed only six hits. But the two runs were enough with Gomez tossing a four hitter at the Phillies. He allowed a run in the sixth on a single by Richie Ashburn, two walks and a pair of infield outs.

DiBiase Whips Jimmie Archer

Decision Unanimous In St. Nick Battle

Archer had won a split verdict over his fellow New Yorker on May 13, 1957.

Tony, an underdog at 13 to 10, gashed Archer's right eye in the first round and it bled so freely throughout that Dr. Samuel Swetnick examined the wound at the end of the first and sixth rounds but permitted the bout to continue. Meanwhile, Archer, suffered a gash on his left brow in the second session and his nose began adding to the gore in the third.

College Grid Coaches Call Pro Draft Unfair

Wilkinson, Wyatt, Daugherty Oppose Special Treatment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three top college coaches Monday kicked off on pro football's draft. They called it unfair to the players and said it's not true that the pros need it to survive.

Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson, one of the three who testified before Senate sports investigators, said regardless of the draft only players of rare ability should undertake the professional game.

Either those, Wilkinson told the Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee, or athletes with a definite goal who play for pay in order to finance graduate education.

"Beyond that," Wilkinson said, "anyone who plays is making a bad mistake."

Wilkinson, who has directed Oklahoma to three national collegiate championships, was the first to blast the National Football League's draft. Then came Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State and Bowden Wyatt of Tennessee. Each teaches a different style of offense but each three the same kind of attack on the system whereby NFL clubs gain exclusive bargaining rights for designated collegians.

They declared it prevents young men from marketing their talent for the highest price. They also disagreed with the contention of NFL Commissioner Bert Bell and other advocates that pro football needs the draft to equalize team strengths.

In essence, they argued it's almost impossible to appraise collegians accurately. . .there's too little difference in the ability or potential of college players. . . there are too few vacancies each year for any one club to buy up the best players and create a monopoly in football skill.

All three coaches opposed House-passed legislation to give pro football, baseball, basketball and hockey sweeping exemptions from the antitrust laws. They said professional sports are businesses and saw no reason for special treatment.

Giants Grab Double Bill

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The second-place San Francisco Giants took advantage of a ninth inning error in the first game and a gilt-edged pitching performance by right-hander Ruben Gomez in the second as they beat the Philadelphia Phillies 3-2 and 2-1 Monday night to move within one percentage point of the National League lead.

Tied 2-2 in the twi-night affair, the Giants won in the ninth inning for the 17th time this season. They needed help from Philadelphia relief pitcher Dick Farrell who obliged by dropping the ball on a routine play at first base while Danny O'Connell scored the winning run.

In the second game, the Giants picked up single runs off pitcher Jack Meyer in the second on two singles and in the sixth on a double and single. Other than that the San Francisco bats were mute as Meyer struck out 12 and allowed only six hits. But the two runs were enough with Gomez tossing a four hitter at the Phillies. He allowed a run in the sixth on a single by Richie Ashburn, two walks and a pair of infield outs.

DiBiase Whips Jimmie Archer

Decision Unanimous In St. Nick Battle

Archer had won a split verdict over his fellow New Yorker on May 13, 1957.

Tony, an underdog at 13 to 10, gashed Archer's right eye in the first round and it bled so freely throughout that Dr. Samuel Swetnick examined the wound at the end of the first and sixth rounds but permitted the bout to continue. Meanwhile, Archer, suffered a gash on his left brow in the second session and his nose began adding to the gore in the third.

DiBiase registered his 21st victory in 27 bouts. It was Archer's sixth defeat in 23 bouts.

Frostburg and Cresaptown continued to wage a hot battle for the Bi-State Pony Baseball League pennant by registering wins in games played yesterday at Lonaconing and Cresaptown.

The Mountain City nine, leading the race by one full game, defeated Lonaconing by the score of 11-6 in a game halted by darkness at the end of the sixth inning.

Frostburg collected nine hits and Lonaconing obtained six. Dave Kerch and Watkinson of the winners and Jim Getty and Roger Wilson of 'Coney sparked the hitters with two blows each.

Billy Lovett notched his ninth win of the campaign in the role of relief pitcher as Cresaptown came from behind to blast LaVale by the score of 13-7.

Manager Dale Broadwater's team, trailing 7-3, scored ten runs in the fifth and sixth to pull the game out of the fire. Gary Clingerman, John Hinds and Tommy Cecil shared nine of Cresaptown's 16 hits while Ted Femi had two of LaVale's nine bingles.

Cresaptown and Lonaconing will meet at Lonaconing at 6 p.m., Wednesday in a rescheduled contest that was rained out earlier in the season.

In an extra inning battle, Ellerslie broke a four-game losing streak by edging Mt. Savage in eight frames by the score of 4-3.

Ellerslie was on the short end of a 3-0 score until the top of the 7th when four hits, including a triple by Jim DeHaven and a double by Twain Lowery, produced three markers and knotted the score. In the overtime stanza, Jim Cook drew a walk and John Lowery blasted a triple to decide the issue. Lowery pitched the last inning for Ellerslie and blanked the home team. The win went to Jim Cook, who replaced Hartman in the 6th.

John Lowery had two singles in addition to his three-bagger and Twain Lowery pounded a double and single for the victors. Deffenbaugh and Riggleman got three-base raps and Bobby Green smacked a pair of singles for Mt. Savage. Scores:

Westernport Beats 'Coney In Eighth, 3-2

Bobby Raines' Hit Nets Marple Win

Bobby Raines' two-run single in the top of the eighth inning gave Westernport a 3-2 decision over Lonaconing in a Twilight Baseball League battle yesterday at Lonaconing.

"Ike" Love of Lonaconing forced the game into an extra inning when he blasted a homer in the last of the 7th frame.

An error, walk and Junie Perry's single gave Westernport a 1-0 lead in the first inning.

Lonaconing gave the visitors a scare in the bottom of the eighth by scoring one run when E. Spiker singled, Jerry Lancaster was safe on an error and Cliff Preston, batting for Amoruso, singled. Cokie Robertson singled to center but the rally died when Eddie Hayes, running for Preston, fell down after rounding third base and was cut down at the plate.

The win was the third straight for Dave Marple against no losses. Lancaster's record is now 3-3. Each pitcher fanned five.

Raines was the only player to obtain more than one hit. He obtained a pair of singles.

Barton and Midland lead the Twilight race with 14-3 records. Westernport holds the runner-up spot with 15 wins and four losses.

Two games have been rescheduled for today. Westernport is at Barton at 5:30 and Lonaconing at Finzel at 6 p. m.

Major Player Shakeup Announced By Dodgers

Birrer Purchased, Two Are Optioned, McDevitt Recalled

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Dodgers announced a major player shakeup Monday in the light of a report that manager Walter Alston was on his way out unless the team started winning consistently in the next 10 days.

General manager Buzzy Bavasi announced Monday afternoon:

—Optioning of rookie third baseman Dick Gray to St. Paul of the American Association.

—The recall from St. Paul of hurler Danny McDevitt, who was with the Dodgers at the start of the season and was shipped to the farm club with a record of 1-3. McDevitt has amassed a record of 9-4 thus far this season with St. Paul.

—Purchase of hurler Werner (Babe) Birrer from Montreal. He joins the Dodgers in Milwaukee Tuesday.

—Recall from St. Paul of infielder Bobby Lillis. Lillis, who is currently sidelined with an injured ankle, will join the Dodgers on their return to Los Angeles Aug. 8.

Bavasi, in making the "wholesale" shift of personnel, again emphasized that Alston was not going to be replaced with coach Charley Dressen, "or anyone else."

The genial Dodger boss said that Roebuck had requested retirement and that baseball commissioner Ford Frick had approved the request earlier Monday.

U.S. Men's Track-Field Team Beats Russians, 126-109

MOSCOW (UPI)—America won its "summit" track and field meet with Russia's menfolk Monday night by beating their Soviet rivals 126 points to 109 with the aid of a world record by Rafer Johnson, the greatest all - around athlete in history.

Scores 8,302 Points

Weary and with little further to gain, Johnson then finished last in the 1500-meter race which wound up the gruelling 10-event test, setting his record total at 8,302 points.

Russia's women beat their United States counterparts, 63 points to 44, a margin smaller than had been predicted.

As soon as the meet ended, Soviet officials, violating an agreement in writing with the Americans, promptly added together the scores of both men's and women's competition and claimed they had won the combined meet by a score of 172 to 170.

This was announced over the loudspeakers to the crowd of 30,000 and flashed on the electric signboard at each end of the huge stadium.

Red Claim Discounted

This claim had been discounted in advance by Dan Ferris, honorary secretary of the American Amateur Athletic Union, and head coach George Eastment. The U.S. officials have a letter specifically stating that the two-day competition—most important track and field event since the Olympics—was two separate dual meetings—one men's and one women's.

"Without that letter we wouldn't have left the United States," Eastment said.

The U. S. men won seven of the 12 events on the final day's program, giving them a total of 14 victories in the 22 contests between the two nations.

American women captured two events Monday, giving them a total of four triumphs in the two days' 10 events.

Besides Johnson, the American winners Monday were: Ed Collymore of Cambridge, Mass., in the 200-meter run (21.3 seconds); Tom Courtney, Livingston, N.J., 800-meter run (1:48.8); Glen Davis, Columbus, Ohio, 400-meter hurdles (:50.4); Jim Grelle, Portland, Ore. 1,500 - meter run (3:46.7); Rink Babka, Palo Alto, Calif., discus (186 feet, 11.6 inches), and the 1,600-meter relay team of Jack Yerman, Woodland, Calif.; Courtney, Eddie Southern, Dallas, Tex. and Davis (3:07).

The U. S. women who won their events today were Lucinda Williams of Bloomingdale, Ga., in the 200-meter dash (C24.4) and Earlene Brown of Los Angeles, an upset winner in the shot put with a heave of 54 feet, three inches.

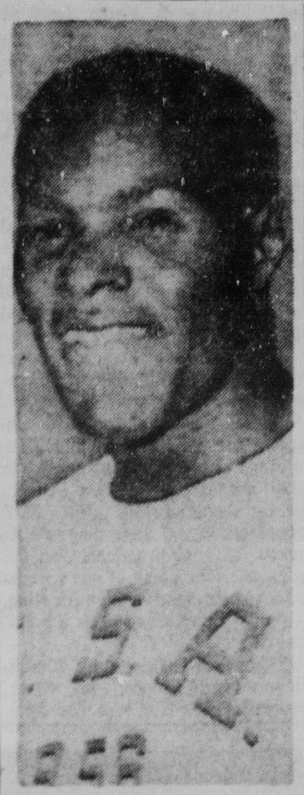

Russians Hail Johnson

Zamedhatelno!" they shouted—meaning marvelous — as it was announced that Johnson had broken Vasili Kuznetsov's recently-established world record of 8,014 points by a staggering 288.

Both the American and Russian coaches agreed Johnson's feat was one of the finest of all time. "It's my greatest sports thrill," said Eastment.

"Johnson's performance was the greatest to occur in the world in any sports," said Russian coach Gavril Korobkov.

SETS RECORD—Rafer Johnson, above, United States decathlon star, won the 10-event, two-day grind yesterday with a record-shattering performance in the Russia-U.S. track and field meet in Moscow. Johnson scored 8,302 points compared to 7,897 credited to Russia's Vasily Kuznetsov.

Gary Shook Blanks VFW

Gurley's Wins, 7-0; 49ers Top Toy Shop

Woody Gurley's tossers got off to a good start as the second half championship race of the City High School Baseball League got under way yesterday when Gary Shook tossed a 4-hitter, struck out seven and skunked the V.F.W., first half champions, 7 to 0, at Stitcher Field.

Shook yielded only four singles and issued three bases on balls.

The winners collected nine hits, including a triple and double by "Bud" Allison, a double and single by Eddie Goss and a two-base wallop by Tuffy Marrale. The fielding highlight came on the last putout of the game when Kenny Twigg turned in a nice running catch of Billy Colbert's drive to centerfield.

The Forty Niners racked up 15 hits and rallied for four runs in the final frame to whip the Toy Shop at Fort Hill Field by the score of 8-3.

Lefty John Mills held the Toy Shop to three hits, one a triple by Cousins, and struck out nine in posting his third win against a single loss. Gary Henry, who went the distance for the losers, struck out eight.

Mills paced the Forty Niners at the plate with a triple and two singles while Jim Hammond, Cliff Montgomery, Jim Twigg and Bruce Smith garnered two safeties each. Smith rapped a three-bagger and Montgomery a double. The scores:

Detroit Beats Red Sox, 5-4, In 9th Frame

Bases Loaded Walk Decides Contest

DETROIT (UPI) — Leo Kiely walked Charlie Maxwell with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth inning Monday to force across Billy Martin with the winning run and give the Detroit Tigers a 5-4 victory.

Kiely was cold after rain had delayed the game for an hour and nine minutes in the ninth inning with Martin at second and two down. Harvey Kuenn had a 3-0 count when the torrent came and when play was started again he walked on the first pitch. Al Kaline beat out an infield roller to jam the bases.

Maxwell worked the count to 3-2 before getting the walk on an outside pitch.

Gus Zernial started the lengthy inning with a pinch-hit single. Milt Bolling, running for him, was sacrificed to second. Martin bounced one to short and Bolling was caught off base. But Martin then stole second. The rains, which had been falling for several innings, came down like a monsoon.

Boston routed Al Cicotte, making his first start since being recalled from the minors over the week end, for four runs and a 4-1 lead in the fifth.

The Sox loaded the bases on successive singles by Sammy White, Don Buddin and starter Dave Sisler. Jim Piersall singled in a pair of runs and Pete Runnels another to make it five straight hits before Ted Williams walked. Frank Malzone scored Piersall with a sacrifice fly.

Detroit, which had scored on singles by Al Kaline, Johnny Groth and Charlie Lau in the second, added another in the sixth and knocked out Sisler. Harvey Kuenn walked and Kaline, who had four hits, doubled him home.

Kaline provided the punch in the seventh when Detroit tied the score with a pair of runs.

Martin singled in one and Kaline the other.

Gus Bell Injured

CINCINNATI (AP)—Centerfielder Gus Bell, out of the Cincinnati Redleg lineup for three days, entered Christ Hospital Monday for treatment of an ankle injury.

Bell was hit on the ankle by a foul ball last week and Redleg General Manager Gabe Paul said the bruise was aggravated by boils. He said Bell would be in the hospital for three or four days and probably would be out of the lineup for a week.

Jay, Willey And Pizarro Help Braves

Scored 11 Wins Since June 13

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Three pitchers who didn't figure prominently in the Milwaukee Braves' plans last spring have accounted for just as many victories in the past six weeks as the three who did.

Since June 13 when Jay made his first start, the Braves have won 23 games. Jay, Willey and Pizarro have accounted for 11 of the victories; the same number as Spahn, Burdette and Rush. Don McMahon won the other game in relief.

The 22-year-old Jay leads with 6 triumphs, followed by Burdette with 5, Spahn and Willey with 4 apiece, Rush with 2 and Pizarro with 1 in his only start during the span.

Of the three youngsters only Jay has been with the club all season. He probably would have been sent to the Braves' Wichita, Kan., farm affiliate at cut-down time except for the fact that his options had been used up.

Willey, 27, was optioned to Wichita May 14, but recalled June 3. He made his first start 10 days later. Pizarro, the youngest at 21, was recalled from Wichita July 21. He had opened the season there.

Bob Buhl, the hard-throwing right-hander who won 18 games in each of the last two seasons, hasn't pitched since May 13 because of a sore arm. Gene Conley and Bob Trowbridge, seasoned right-handers who were to have started in spots, have a combined won-loss record of 0 and 8.

Howard Grant Wins Aboard Kit's Pet

The 3-2 favorite in the crowd estimated at 20,300 was three and a half lengths in advance of Lonely, who had better than two lengths over Dared in the field of twelve 2-year-old fillies.

In gaining her second victory in six starts, the $11,000 yearling purchase of Robert and Rochelle Levy, of Philadelphia, paid $5.00, $3.60 and $3.20. Howard Grant who rode Lil' Mac ($7.80) to a victory in the first race, guided Kit's Pet who ran the six furlongs under 119 pounds in 1.13 2/5.

Bob's .330 Tops AL, Musial Holds Lead

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Big Bob Cerv of Kansas City, who suffered a fractured jaw May 16 and could not eat solid foods for more than a month, fattened up on Baltimore pitching over the weekend to take over the American League batting lead with a .330 average.

The Athletics' star outfielder collected seven hits in the three games against the Orioles and moved past Cleveland's Vic Power and Chicago's Billy Goodman in the exciting competition.

Pete Runnels of Boston, last week's leader, went hitless in five tries Sunday and fell into a fourth place tie with Nellie Fox of Chicago at .324.

Cerv has turned in a most courageous performance in his eighth season in the majors. His fracture was the result of a plate collision. Bob was sidelined for 10 days and then played with his jaw wired until June 17. The 31-year-old right-handed batter was acquired from the New York Yankees Oct. 16, 1956.

Power Is Second

Power moved up one notch to second place at .326. Goodman dropped to third with a .325 mark. The White Sox third baseman had only two hits in 14 hits last week.

In the National League, Willie Mays of San Francisco picked up 10 points on pace-setting Stan Musial of St. Louis.

Musial, seeking his eighth batting title, had nine hits in 31 at bats and slumped seven points to .354. Mays climbed three points to .347 with an 8-for-20 showing. Musial led by 17 points a week ago.

Richie Ashburn of Philadelphia had seven safeties in 17 trips to take over third place at .331. Bob Skinner of Pittsburgh advanced to fourth with a .500 effort (13-for-26) that lifted his mark to .328.

Thomas Has 28 Homers

Pittsburgh's Frank Thomas moved into undisputed possession of the senior circuit's home run lead. He walloped a pair, giving him 28 for the campaign. Ernie Banks of Chicago is the runner-up with 27.

Banks, however, wrested the runs batted in lead from Thomas Ernie drove in seven runs and Thomas only five. Their season's totals are Banks 80 and Thomas 79.

Jackie Jensen of Boston remained on top in the American League home run and RBI races. He has 29 circuit blows and 89 runs batted in. Jackie hit one homer and scored six runners last week.

Reed, Arrowood Homers Decide DD Loop Games

The Phillies moved within a half game of the first place Red Sox in the Dapper Division of the Dapper Dan Little League by beating the Pirates yesterday at Penn Avenue Field by the score of 8-6.

The win was the 6th in 10 outings for the Phillies. The Sox lead with a 6-3 record.

Bobby Reed's homer following Howard Reynolds' single, Mike Hixson's walk and Bubba Peck's fielder's choice enabled the Phils to come from behind to win the game in the final inning.

Terry Deremer, Vinnie DelaGrange and Howard Reynolds had two hits each for the winners. Reynolds, winning pitcher, fanned 11 and walked six while Jewell struck out five and gave up one pass. Hobell collected two of the Pirates' eight hits.

At East Side Field, the Tigers got one hit off Tommy Van Sant but that won the game in the final frame when Jimmy Arrowood smashed a three-run homer to sink the Indians, 4-3.

The Tigers were on the short end of a 3-0 score then exploded for four runs in the 6th. They scored one run on an error before Arrowood unloaded his four-master. Tommy Bishop then saved the day for the Tigers by snaring Hartung's long drive to left field in the last of the 6th.

U.S. Men's Track-Field Team Beats Russians, 126-109

MOSCOW (UPI)—America won its "summit" track and field meet with Russia's menfolk Monday night by beating their Soviet rivals 126 points to 109 with the aid of a world record by Rafer Johnson, the greatest all - around athlete in history.

Scores 8,302 Points

Weary and with little further to gain, Johnson then finished last in the 1500-meter race which wound up the gruelling 10-event test, setting his record total at 8,302 points.

Russia's women beat their United States counterparts, 63 points to 44, a margin smaller than had been predicted.

As soon as the meet ended, Soviet officials, violating an agreement in writing with the Americans, promptly added together the scores of both men's and women's competition and claimed they had won the combined meet by a score of 172 to 170.

This was announced over the loudspeakers to the crowd of 30,000 and flashed on the electric signboard at each end of the huge stadium.

Red Claim Discounted

This claim had been discounted in advance by Dan Ferris, honorary secretary of the American Amateur Athletic Union, and head coach George Eastment. The U.S. officials have a letter specifically stating that the two-day competition—most important track and field event since the Olympics—was two separate dual meetings—one men's and one women's.

"Without that letter we wouldn't have left the United States," Eastment said.

The U. S. men won seven of the 12 events on the final day's program, giving them a total of 14 victories in the 22 contests between the two nations.

American women captured two events Monday, giving them a total of four triumphs in the two days' 10 events.

Besides Johnson, the American winners Monday were: Ed Collymore of Cambridge, Mass., in the 200-meter run (21.3 seconds); Tom Courtney, Livingston, N.J., 800-meter run (1:48.8); Glen Davis, Columbus, Ohio, 400-meter hurdles (:50.4); Jim Grelle, Portland, Ore. 1,500 - meter run (3:46.7); Rink Babka, Palo Alto, Calif., discus (186 feet, 11.6 inches), and the 1,600-meter relay team of Jack Yerman, Woodland, Calif.; Courtney, Eddie Southern, Dallas, Tex. and Davis (3:07).

The U. S. women who won their events today were Lucinda Williams of Bloomingdale, Ga., in the 200-meter dash (C24.4) and Earlene Brown of Los Angeles, an upset winner in the shot put with a heave of 54 feet, three inches.

Russians Hail Johnson

Zamedhatelno!" they shouted—meaning marvelous — as it was announced that Johnson had broken Vasili Kuznetsov's recently-established world record of 8,014 points by a staggering 288.

Both the American and Russian coaches agreed Johnson's feat was one of the finest of all time. "It's my greatest sports thrill," said Eastment.

"Johnson's performance was the greatest to occur in the world in any sports," said Russian coach Gavril Korobkov.

SETS RECORD—Rafer Johnson, above, United States decathlon star, won the 10-event, two-day grind yesterday with a record-shattering performance in the Russia-U.S. track and field meet in Moscow. Johnson scored 8,302 points compared to 7,897 credited to Russia's Vasily Kuznetsov.

Gary Shook Blanks VFW

Woody Gurley's tossers got off to a good start as the second half championship race of the City High School Baseball League got under way yesterday when Gary Shook tossed a 4-hitter, struck out seven and skunked the V.F.W., first half champions, 7 to 0, at Stitcher Field.

Shook yielded only four singles and issued three bases on balls.

The winners collected nine hits, including a triple and double by "Bud" Allison, a double and single by Eddie Goss and a two-base wallop by Tuffy Marrale. The fielding highlight came on the last putout of the game when Kenny Twigg turned in a nice running catch of Billy Colbert's drive to centerfield.

The Forty Niners racked up 15 hits and rallied for four runs in the final frame to whip the Toy Shop at Fort Hill Field by the score of 8-3.

Lefty John Mills held the Toy Shop to three hits, one a triple by Cousins, and struck out nine in posting his third win against a single loss. Gary Henry, who went the distance for the losers, struck out eight.

Mills paced the Forty Niners at the plate with a triple and two singles while Jim Hammond, Cliff Montgomery, Jim Twigg and Bruce Smith garnered two safeties each. Smith rapped a three-bagger and Montgomery a double. The scores:

Detroit Beats Red Sox, 5-4, In 9th Frame

Bases Loaded Walk Decides Contest

DETROIT (UPI) — Leo Kiely walked Charlie Maxwell with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth inning Monday to force across Billy Martin with the winning run and give the Detroit Tigers a 5-4 victory.

Kiely was cold after rain had delayed the game for an hour and nine minutes in the ninth inning with Martin at second and two down. Harvey Kuenn had a 3-0 count when the torrent came and when play was started again he walked on the first pitch. Al Kaline beat out an infield roller to jam the bases.

Maxwell worked the count to 3-2 before getting the walk on an outside pitch.

Gus Zernial started the lengthy inning with a pinch-hit single. Milt Bolling, running for him, was sacrificed to second. Martin bounced one to short and Bolling was caught off base. But Martin then stole second. The rains, which had been falling for several innings, came down like a monsoon.

Boston routed Al Cicotte, making his first start since being recalled from the minors over the week end, for four runs and a 4-1 lead in the fifth.

The Sox loaded the bases on successive singles by Sammy White, Don Buddin and starter Dave Sisler. Jim Piersall singled in a pair of runs and Pete Runnels another to make it five straight hits before Ted Williams walked. Frank Malzone scored Piersall with a sacrifice fly.

Detroit, which had scored on singles by Al Kaline, Johnny Groth and Charlie Lau in the second, added another in the sixth and knocked out Sisler. Harvey Kuenn walked and Kaline, who had four hits, doubled him home.

Kaline provided the punch in the seventh when Detroit tied the score with a pair of runs.

Martin singled in one and Kaline the other.

Gus Bell Injured

CINCINNATI (AP)—Centerfielder Gus Bell, out of the Cincinnati Redleg lineup for three days, entered Christ Hospital Monday for treatment of an ankle injury.

Bell was hit on the ankle by a foul ball last week and Redleg General Manager Gabe Paul said the bruise was aggravated by boils. He said Bell would be in the hospital for three or four days and probably would be out of the lineup for a week.

Jay, Willey And Pizarro Help Braves

Scored 11 Wins Since June 13

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Three pitchers who didn't figure prominently in the Milwaukee Braves' plans last spring have accounted for just as many victories in the past six weeks as the three who did.

Since June 13 when Jay made his first start, the Braves have won 23 games. Jay, Willey and Pizarro have accounted for 11 of the victories; the same number as Spahn, Burdette and Rush. Don McMahon won the other game in relief.

The 22-year-old Jay leads with 6 triumphs, followed by Burdette with 5, Spahn and Willey with 4 apiece, Rush with 2 and Pizarro with 1 in his only start during the span.

Of the three youngsters only Jay has been with the club all season. He probably would have been sent to the Braves' Wichita, Kan., farm affiliate at cut-down time except for the fact that his options had been used up.

Willey, 27, was optioned to Wichita May 14, but recalled June 3. He made his first start 10 days later. Pizarro, the youngest at 21, was recalled from Wichita July 21. He had opened the season there.

Bob Buhl, the hard-throwing right-hander who won 18 games in each of the last two seasons, hasn't pitched since May 13 because of a sore arm. Gene Conley and Bob Trowbridge, seasoned right-handers who were to have started in spots, have a combined won-loss record of 0 and 8.

Howard Grant Wins Aboard Kit's Pet

The 3-2 favorite in the crowd estimated at 20,300 was three and a half lengths in advance of Lonely, who had better than two lengths over Dared in the field of twelve 2-year-old fillies.

In gaining her second victory in six starts, the $11,000 yearling purchase of Robert and Rochelle Levy, of Philadelphia, paid $5.00, $3.60 and $3.20. Howard Grant who rode Lil' Mac ($7.60) to a victory in the first race, guided Kit's Pet who ran the six furlongs under 119 pounds in 1.13 2/5.

Cerv Fattens Swat Mark On Bird Pitching

Bob's .330 Tops AL, Musial Holds Lead

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Big Bob Cerv of Kansas City, who suffered a fractured jaw May 16 and could not eat solid foods for more than a month, fattened up on Baltimore pitching over the weekend to take over the American League batting lead with a .330 average.

The Athletics' star outfielder collected seven hits in the three games against the Orioles and moved past Cleveland's Vic Power and Chicago's Billy Goodman in the exciting competition.

Pete Runnels of Boston, last week's leader, went hitless in five tries Sunday and fell into a fourth place tie with Nellie Fox of Chicago at .324.

Cerv has turned in a most courageous performance in his eighth season in the majors. His fracture was the result of a plate collision. Bob was sidelined for 10 days and then played with his jaw wired until June 17. The 31-year-old right-handed batter was acquired from the New York Yankees Oct. 16, 1956.

Power Is Second

Power moved up one notch to second place at .326. Goodman dropped to third with a .325 mark. The White Sox third baseman had only two hits in 14 hits last week.

In the National League, Willie Mays of San Francisco picked up 10 points on pace-setting Stan Musial of St. Louis.

Musial, seeking his eighth batting title, had nine hits in 31 at bats and slumped seven points to .354. Mays climbed three points to .347 with an 8-for-20 showing. Musial led by 17 points a week ago.

Richie Ashburn of Philadelphia had seven safeties in 17 trips to take over third place at .331. Bob Skinner of Pittsburgh advanced to fourth with a .500 effort (13-for-26) that lifted his mark to .328.

Thomas Has 28 Homers

Pittsburgh's Frank Thomas moved into undisputed possession of the senior circuit's home run lead. He walloped a pair, giving him 28 for the campaign. Ernie Banks of Chicago is the runner-up with 27.

Banks, however, wrested the runs batted in lead from Thomas Ernie drove in seven runs and Thomas only five. Their season's totals are Banks 80 and Thomas 79.

Jackie Jensen of Boston remained on top in the American League home run and RBI races. He has 29 circuit blows and 89 runs batted in. Jackie hit one homer and scored six runners last week.

Reed, Arrowood Homers Decide DD Loop Games

The Phillies moved within a half game of the first place Red Sox in the Dapper Division of the Dapper Dan Little League by beating the Pirates yesterday at Penn Avenue Field by the score of 8-6.

The win was the 6th in 10 outings for the Phillies. The Sox lead with a 6-3 record.

Bobby Reed's homer following Howard Reynolds' single, Mike Hixson's walk and Bubba Peck's fielder's choice enabled the Phils to come from behind to win the game in the final inning.

Terry Deremer, Vinnie Dela-Grange and Howard Reynolds had two hits each for the winners. Reynolds, winning pitcher, fanned 11 and walked six while Jewell struck out five and gave up one pass. Hobell collected two of the Pirates' eight hits.

At East Side Field, the Tigers got one hit off Tommy Van Sant but that won the game in the final frame when Jimmy Arrowood smashed a three-run homer to sink the Indians, 4-3.

The Tigers were on the short end of a 3-0 score then exploded for four runs in the 6th. They scored one run on an error before Arrowood unloaded his four-master. Tommy Bishop then saved the day for the Tigers by snaring Hartung's long drive to left field in the last of the 6th.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 club	1 spade	2 hearts	2 no trump
Pass	3 diamonds	Pass	3 no trump
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Spade 10.

East pulled off an exceedingly shrewd gambit against South's three no trump contract today. He deliberately set up an entire suit for declarer in order to gain the unit of time required to defeat the hand.

The bidding was aggressive throughout but the final contract was reasonable and South would have been successful against anything but the "double dummy" defense he received.

The opening lead was somewhat of a lucky stab and yet it was based on a certain amount of logic. South's vigorous bidding indicates great strength in hearts and clubs. It is therefore reasonable to expect that he has no special support for spades.

North made no effort to insist upon his major suit so that it cannot be too well reinforced. East's side values are very likely in spades, since he made a free bid and it can be gathered that his heart suit itself is not very robust.

Finally, from East's failure to double it may be inferred that he is not well prepared for a club lead so that a direct attack in that suit will surely sacrifice a trick.

West, therefore, led the spade 10, which was covered by the jack and the queen. The club 6 was returned and the 10 went to West's jack. The spade 8 was continued and declarer refused to cover with the 9. Nevertheless, East overtook with the ace, although it established three good spade tricks in the dummy. He continued with the club 4 and declarer was now helpless. The clubs were now established and declarer could do no better than run with his eight tricks—three spades, four hearts and one club.

Had East practiced false economy and permitted the eight of spades to hold, the clubs could not have been established in time and the ace of diamonds would have been extracted from the West hand.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—The fascinating story of Robert Stroud, who has been in solitary in Alcatraz for 42 years, the longest sentence of this type in the history of penal institutions, has been bought by 20th Century-Fox for a Jack Cummings production.

The story of Stroud has been incorporated in a book, "Bird Man Of Alcatraz," by Thomas E. Gaddis, and it tells the strange tale of an uneducated man who becomes interested in birds when a wounded sparrow flew into his cell. He's written a book on ornithology. He's also learned Greek and several other languages.

Woodrow Wilson became interested in Stroud's case, but nothing was ever done. Stroud was first imprisoned in 1916 when he got into a brawl in Alaska. Later he killed a tough guard and has been in solitary confinement ever since. Jack would like to have Marlon Brando play Stroud.

"We are joining Freddie, who is there with his father, Carl Brisson, who has been very sick. Lance has never been in Denmark and neither have I. Always before when we went to Europe it was in the winter and Freddie would say, 'You must see my homeland in Summer'."

Roz said she won't see any of us until winter because when she returns in September she'll stay in New York. Freddie has three plays there and she doesn't want to leave him. "His career must come first," said Roz. "But I do have 'Wonderful Town' to do as a TV spectacular when I come back."

"The Purple People Eater" composer Sheb Wooley has kissed and made up with CBS and will be allowed from now on to make guest appearances on other national networks.

A week ago, Wooley's attorney, Robert B. Agins, filed suit against CBS (where Wooley was under contract to appear in the "Rawhide" series), asking that the No. 1 hit songwriter's contract be made non-exclusive. Offers from Perry Como and other big-time shows brought about the lawsuit. Allis peace and harmony now and Agins filed a complete dismissal of the suit, so Mr. Purple People Eater can spread his talents.

My daughter Harriet did such a rave over Jerome Weidman's novel, "The Enemy Camp," when Jerry sent her the galley proof, that I made up my mind to read it as soon as it came out.

Bennett Cerf, who published "The Enemy Camp" for his Random House, said that Weidman has already turned down $150,000 for the movie rights and since this definite turndown he had had two more offers even higher. Obviously Weidman wants to make a participation deal so he isn't slapped in the face with income tax.

The settlement of the musicians strike paved the way for a number of musicals which have been held up. One is "Save One For Me," the Bobby Breen original that goes in September with Frank Tashlin directing and producing. Buddy Adler tried to get Frank Sinatra and Bing Crosby for this but they are tied up—but he'll come through with some top singers that you can depend upon.

"Home Before Dark" will also have the song written by Jimmy McHugh and Sammy Cahn which Warners were unable to record while the strike was on.

Singer Jill Corey and Freddie Karger are in tune and lunch every day. Jill is in "Senior Prom" at Columbia and Freddie is directing the music.

The man who has Tina Louise's heart in his keeping is not yet free and won't be until next month. He gifted her with a large heart-shaped diamond which she wears around her neck.

All the Pat Boone children, with the exception of one, are down with measles. Pat said he has had them but Shirley has had nary a measle.

The prettiest girl at the Judy Garland opening was Linda Leroy, daughter of Mervyn Leroy. Linda, who is home from the Sorbonne, will go to school in the U. S. A., next year. She's as nice as she is pretty.

That's all today.

Finan Hits GOP Remarks

"The first time I have ever heard integrity termed antiquated," Thomas B. Finan, local attorney who is chairman of the Maryland Democratic Party's campaign in the state's 23 counties, commented yesterday about Republican remarks concerning the type of campaign being conducted by J. Millard Tawes and his ticket.

Saturday, Mr. Finan charged the Republicans tried to disguise their political announcements on radio and television as news, and a number of top stations refused to accept their copy.

Mr. Finan said yesterday after reading the Republican comments:

"I read with considerable interest the lame reply which Devereux's headquarters made to the accusations of the Democratic headquarters that GOP representatives endeavored to place political broadcasts on the air under the guise of news items and without sponsor identification, —that is, identification as a political ad.

"The answer given by Republican headquarters, in effect, tacitly admits that this was done, but that it was just smart advertising and that the methods used by Mr. Tawes' headquarters were antiquated.

"This is the first time that I have ever heard integrity termed antiquated, but then, I presume the Republicans know what they are talking about in this latter regard."

Work On Mountain Road Delayed By Wet Weather

The construction of the new highway up Backbone Mountain from Bloomington has been delayed by a combination of bad weather, coal mine pits under the terrain and a bad soil condition, according to G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission.

Mr. Chaires said the grading has been completed on the project and it had been hoped to have the surfacing well under way by this time.

Recent heavy rains have prevented the laying of blacktop. It is hoped to complete the project by fall.

Mr. Chaires also reported that the Route 36 project from Corriganville to U. S. Route 40 and a short section of Route 40 in the Narrows will probably be completed late in August.

A dangerous curve at the intersection of the two highways has been eliminated by cutting back a large section of the wall and embankment on the south side of the roadway.

Excellent progress was reported by Mr. Chaires on the Polish Mountain project and he said the surfacing of the newly built highway will be completed in four or five weeks. The entire project will have been completed by fall, he added.

Two highway projects, the Industrial Boulevard in Cumberland and the modernization of U. S. Route 40 from Narrows Park to Long, will probably get underway in a short time, according to Chaires.

Several pieces of property in the LaVale area where the new U. S. Route 40 modernization is slated have been deeded to the State Roads Commission by the owners in papers filed at the Court House yesterday.

Howard R. and Helen E. Zarger deeded one piece of land while George A. Dressman, et ux and et al, have deeded two pieces of property.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 club	1 spade	2 hearts	2 no trump
Pass	3 diamonds	Pass	3 no trump
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Spade 10.

East pulled off an exceedingly shrewd gambit against South's three no trump contract today. He deliberately set up an entire suit for declarer in order to gain the unit of time required to defeat the hand.

The bidding was aggressive throughout but the final contract was reasonable and South would have been successful against anything but the "double dummy" defense he received.

The opening lead was somewhat of a lucky stab and yet it was based on a certain amount of logic. South's vigorous bidding indicates great strength in hearts and clubs. It is therefore reasonable to expect that he has no special support for spades.

North made no effort to insist upon his major suit so that it cannot be too well reinforced. East's side values are very likely in spades, since he made a free bid and it can be gathered that his heart suit itself is not very robust.

Finally, from East's failure to double it may be inferred that he is not well prepared for a club lead so that a direct attack in that suit will surely sacrifice a trick.

West, therefore, led the spade 10, which was covered by the jack and the queen. The club 6 was returned and the 10 went to West's jack. The spade 8 was continued and declarer refused to cover with the 9. Nevertheless, East overtook with the ace, although it established three good spade tricks in the dummy. He continued with the club 4 and declarer was now helpless. The clubs were now established and declarer could do no better than run with his eight tricks—three spades, four hearts and one club.

Had East practiced false economy and permitted the eight of spades to hold, the clubs could not have been established in time and the ace of diamonds would have been extracted from the West hand.

SPUTNIK TRAVELS FAR

LONDON (UPI)—Moscow radio announced Sunday that Russia's Sputnik III has travelled more than 46,000,000 kilometers (about 30,000,000 miles) and its high-flying laboratory has been in operation for 1,750 hours. Launched last May 15, it was to complete its 1,000th trip around the world Sunday.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—The fascinating story of Robert Stroud, who has been in solitary in Alcatraz for 42 years, the longest sentence of this type in the history of penal institutions, has been bought by 20th Century-Fox for a Jack Cummings production.

The story of Stroud has been incorporated in a book, "Bird Man Of Alcatraz," by Thomas E. Gaddis, and it tells the strange tale of an uneducated man who becomes interested in birds when a wounded sparrow flew into his cell. He's written a book on ornithology. He's also learned Greek and several other languages.

Woodrow Wilson became interested in Stroud's case, but nothing was ever done. Stroud was first imprisoned in 1916 when he got into a brawl in Alaska. Later he killed a tough guard and has been in solitary confinement ever since. Jack would like to have Marlon Brando play Stroud.

Rosalind Russell telephoned to say au revoir. She and her 15-year-old son Lance, leave Sunday for New York where they'll sail on the Queen Elizabeth for Denmark.

"We are joining Freddie, who is there with his father, Carl Brisson, who has been very sick. Lance has never been in Denmark and neither have I. Always before when we went to Europe it was in the winter and Freddie would say, 'You must see my homeland in Summer'."

Roz said she won't see any of us until winter because when she returns in September she'll stay in New York. Freddie has three plays there and she doesn't want to leave him. "His career must come first," said Roz. "But I do have 'Wonderful Town' to do as a TV spectacular when I come back."

"The Purple People Eater" composer Sheb Wooley has kissed and made up with CBS and will be allowed from now on to make guest appearances on other national networks.

A week ago, Wooley's attorney, Robert B. Agins, filed suit against CBS (where Wooley was under contract to appear in the "Rawhide" series), asking that the No. 1 hit songwriter's contract be made non-exclusive. Offers from Perry Como and other big-time shows brought about the lawsuit. Allis peace and harmony now and Agins filed a complete dismissal of the suit, so Mr. Purple People Eater can spread his talents.

My daughter Harriet did such a rave over Jerome Weidman's novel, "The Enemy Camp," when Jerry sent her the galley proof, that I made up my mind to read it as soon as it came out.

Bennett Cerf, who published "The Enemy Camp" for his Random House, said that Weidman has already turned down $150,000 for the movie rights and since this definite turndown he had had two more offers even higher. Obviously Weidman wants to make a participation deal so he isn't slapped in the face with income tax.

The settlement of the musicians strike paved the way for a number of musicals which have been held up. One is "Save One For Me," the Bobby Breen original that goes in September with Frank Tashlin directing and producing. Buddy Adler tried to get Frank Sinatra and Bing Crosby for this but they are tied up—but he'll come through with some top singers that you can depend upon.

"Home Before Dark" will also have the song written by Jimmy McHugh and Sammy Cahn which Warners were unable to record while the strike was on.

Singer Jill Corey and Freddie Karger are in tune and lunch every day. Jill is in "Senior Prom" at Columbia and Freddie is directing the music.

The man who has Tina Louise's heart in his keeping is not yet free and won't be until next month. He gifted her with a large heart-shaped diamond which she wears around her neck.

All the Pat Boone children, with the exception of one, are down with measles. Pat said he has had them but Shirley has had nary a measle.

The prettiest girl at the Judy Garland opening was Linda Leroy, daughter of Mervyn Leroy. Linda, who is home from the Sorbonne, will go to school in the U. S. A., next year. She's as nice as she is pretty.

That's all today.

Finan Hits GOP Remarks

"The first time I have ever heard integrity termed antiquated," Thomas B. Finan, local attorney who is chairman of the Maryland Democratic Party's campaign in the state's 23 counties, commented yesterday about Republican remarks concerning the type of campaign being conducted by J. Millard Tawes and his ticket.

Saturday, Mr. Finan charged the Republicans tried to disguise their political announcements on radio and television as news, and a number of top stations refused to accept their copy.

Mr. Finan said yesterday after reading the Republican comments:

"I read with considerable interest the lame reply which Devereux's headquarters made to the accusations of the Democratic headquarters that GOP representatives endeavored to place political broadcasts on the air under the guise of news items and without sponsor identification, —that is, identification as a political ad.

"The answer given by Republican headquarters, in effect, tacitly admits that this was done, but that it was just smart advertising and that the methods used by Mr. Tawes' headquarters were antiquated.

"This is the first time that I have ever heard integrity termed antiquated, but then, I presume the Republicans know what they are talking about in this latter regard."

Work On Mountain Road Delayed By Wet Weather

The construction of the new highway up Backbone Mountain from Bloomington has been delayed by a combination of bad weather, coal mine pits under the terrain and a bad soil condition, according to G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission.

Mr. Chaires said the grading has been completed on the project and it had been hoped to have the surfacing well under way by this time.

Recent heavy rains have prevented the laying of blacktop. It is hoped to complete the project by fall.

Mr. Chaires also reported that the Route 36 project from Corriganville to U. S. Route 40 and a short section of Route 40 in the Narrows will probably be completed late in August.

A dangerous curve at the intersection of the two highways has been eliminated by cutting back a large section of the wall and embankment on the south side of the roadway.

Excellent progress was reported by Mr. Chaires on the Polish Mountain project and he said the surfacing of the newly built highway will be completed in four or five weeks. The entire project will have been completed by fall, he added.

Two highway projects, the Industrial Boulevard in Cumberland and the modernization of U. S. Route 40 from Narrows Park to Long, will probably get underway in a short time, according to Chaires.

Several pieces of property in the LaVale area where the new U. S. Route 40 modernization is slated have been deeded to the State Roads Commission by the owners in papers filed at the Court House yesterday.

Howard R. and Helen E. Zarger deeded one piece of land while George A. Dressman, et ux and et al, have deeded two pieces of property.

A carload of German Horticulture Peat Moss
Use as a summer mulch when plants are growing well. After cultivating soil, mulch around with 1 to 4 inches of moist peat moss. This will keep down weeds, make further cultivating unnecessary, keeps the soil moist and cool and the roots vigorous, and gives your plantings a neat well groomed appearance.

Young Driver Gets Sentence

A 17-year-old Clarysville youth was sentenced to 60 days in the County Jail on a charge of using obscene language in court resulting from remarks made yesterday before Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick during a hearing on a motor vehicle violation case.

Remanded to the lockup in default of $200 bond was Richard Hugh Perry, who was arrested Saturday night by State Trooper Joseph Stakem.

At yesterday's hearing Trooper Stakem charged Perry with operating a vehicle without a permit, and with using license plates that had been issued to another automobile.

After stating that he did not "have to take that ——," the magistrate ordered the jail sentence for the use of obscene language. Magistrate Dick also imposed a $200 bond of Perry for appearance Thursday for sentencing on the motor vehicle violations.

Truman To Speak At Demo Dinner

A letter confirming his speech before Maryland Democrats at a $100-a-plate campaign dinner has been received by the Tawes campaign committee, from ex-President Harry S. Truman, Thomas B. Finan, chairman, for the state's 23 counties revealed yesterday.

The committee at its last meeting in Baltimore over the weekend set the time of the event, expected to attract over a thousand party supporters for Friday, September 19, in the Pikesville Armory.

Finan said Allegany County will have a good representation at the event being held in behalf of the campaign for J. Millard Tawes for Governor, C. Ferdinand Sybert for attorney general; Louis Goldstein for comptroller general and Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro for U. S. senator.

SHIFT IN CAMERA TRADE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Commerce Department reported imports of still cameras from West Germany and Japan were down sharply during the first three months of 1958, while camera imports from East Germany increased.

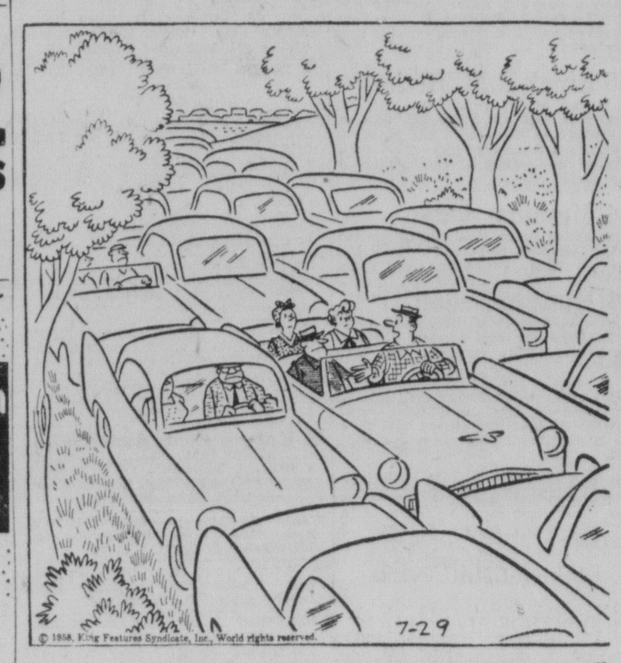

Denmark has been the scene of more wars than any other country.

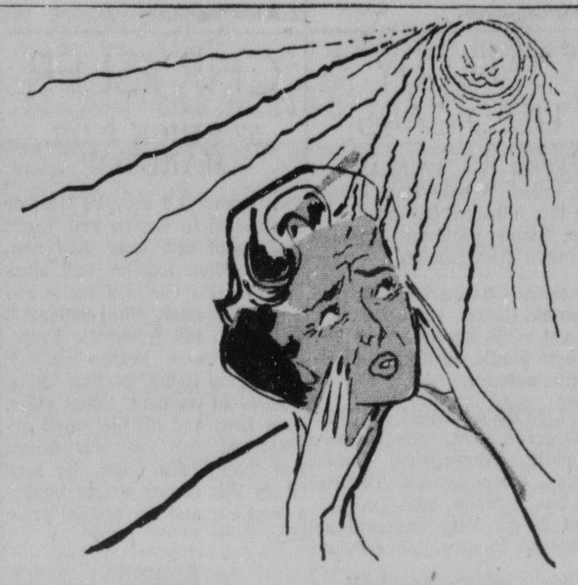

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"Bring out the basket—this looks like as good a place as we'll find for our picnic."

Few skins ever have the same translucent quality after a deep tanning, so take it gradually.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Summerizing Your Beauty

Wrinkles are one of the strange phenomena of an aging skin. And time's unfriendly "etchings" can get more pronounced when hot sunny weather is here.

Sunshine can be most beneficial to your skin as well as to your health — not to mention your appearance. But only if it's taken in the proper amount. For instance, do you realize that just one hundred minutes of unprotected exposure can cause a painful burn which in turn involves partial destruction of the outer layers of the skin?

Painful sunburn is ruinous to the fine texture of the skin. The body will attempt to repair the damage, but against repeated attacks of overexposure it is powerless. Serious manifestations occur: coarsening and aging of the skin, causing lines and wrinkles, are the least of these.

For the body, the sun is most beneficial in as much as its rays give us Vitamin D, the vitamin so important to all of us for the assimilation of the minerals. But the secret is to tan slowly and replenish your lotion frequently. So do everything that you can to protect the beauty of your skin.

Also remember that your skin needs protection for the whole summer. A deep tan is no proof at all against a burn. To protect the mouth, always wear lipstick. Between exposures, keep your body well-lubricated. Give yourself a rub down with body oil or baby lotion after every sun bath or shower.

Drills Are Conducted By LaVale Firemen

The LaVale Volunteer Fire Company conducted fire drills last week for 13 members.

Under the direction of Chief James Loar, the group received instructions on the use of air packs, pumping water from streams and the use of booster lines.

Loar commented on the fire safety consciousness of the residents of LaVale, but asked that in time of emergency for them to be accurate on the location of the blaze when calling the fire hall.

WORK STARTS ON A-PLANT

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) —After years of planning work on West Germany's first atom power plant has begun. The plant, to be constructed at an estimated cost of 10 million dollars, will be completed by the end of this year at Khal, near Frankfurt.

Americans have far more fatal accidents in summer than in any other season.

Time For Change

STORMONT, Va. (AP) — Eddy Seward, 82, spent 41 years as a hermit in Virginia's Dragon swamp before he decided to return to civilization. Now he has decided that—maybe—it is time to get married. He drafted an advertisement for a weekly newspaper saying the wife desired shouldn't be over 50, divorced nor a "vanity woman." He said he would shave if he got married.

Diverse Opinions

PLEASANTVILLE, N. J. (AP)—Pleasantville Junior High School students thought better of the school budget than their elders.

District voters turned down two sections of the board of education budget by a 2½-1 margin.

Less than two weeks later seventh graders, in a mock election, approved the same sections by a 6-1 margin.

Assault

Police said he slammed a car door on the head of a man during an argument.

Two Men Given Hearings For Shoplifting

One of two out-of-town men who were charged with shoplifting was given 60 days in the County Jail at a hearing yesterday before Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick, the other man praying a jury trial.

According to City Detective Thomas J. See, the men were seen taking the iron and leaving the building after placing the item in a shopping bag.

Praying a jury trial, and remanded to the County Jail for the October term of court, was Louis Cox, of RD 2, Bath, N. C. Court attaches said Cox made the remark that he was "afraid" to enter a plea yesterday because he thought he would be given a six-month sentence.

A Frostburg man, Roy Lee Van Meter, was given a suspended three-month sentence by Trial Magistrate Morris Baron after pleading guilty to the theft of a tool kit on July 19 from Francis E. Kuns, also of Frostburg.

The magistrate suspended the sentence after being informed restitution had been made, and that Van Meter was in need of medical attention.

Lumber Firm Signs New Union Contract

An agreement has been reached by the Carpenters Union and Local 453, Teamsters Union, on a new contract with the Buchanan Lumber Company, according to C. E. Stutzman, Teamster Union business agent.

The pact provides for $4.25 per month increase per employe in the health and welfare coverage and also a wage increase. A number of adjustments in classifications were included which will give some workers a substantial raise in wages.

There are 25 employes covered in the contract with the Carpenters having jurisdiction over the mill men who work the machinery while the Teamsters cover the drivers, yard men and helpers.

Young Driver Gets Sentence

A 17-year-old Clarysville youth was sentenced to 60 days in the County Jail on a charge of using obscene language in court resulting from remarks made yesterday before Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick during a hearing on a motor vehicle violation case.

Remanded to the lockup in default of $200 bond was Richard Hugh Perry, who was arrested Saturday night by State Trooper Joseph Stakem.

At yesterday's hearing Trooper Stakem charged Perry with operating a vehicle without a permit, and with using license plates that had been issued to another automobile.

After stating that he did not "have to take that ——," the magistrate ordered the jail sentence for the use of obscene language. Magistrate Dick also imposed a $200 bond of Perry for appearance Thursday for sentencing on the motor vehicle violations.

Truman To Speak At Demo Dinner

A letter confirming his speech before Maryland Democrats at a $100-a-plate campaign dinner has been received by the Tawes campaign committee from ex-President Harry S. Truman, Thomas B. Finan, chairman, for the state's 23 counties revealed yesterday.

The committee at its last meeting in Baltimore over the weekend set the time of the event, expected to attract over a thousand party supporters for Friday, September 19, in the Pikesville Armory.

Finan said Allegany County will have a good representation at the event being held in behalf of the campaign for J. Millard Tawes for Governor, C. Ferdinand Sybert for attorney general; Louis Goldstein for comptroller general and Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro for U. S. senator.

SHIFT IN CAMERA TRADE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Commerce Department reported imports of still cameras from West Germany and Japan were down sharply during the first three months of 1958, while camera imports from East Germany increased.

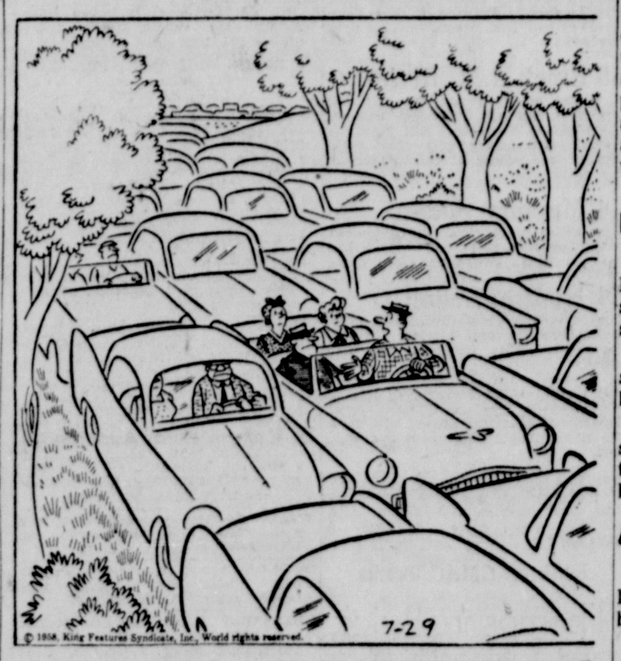

Denmark has been the scene of more wars than any other country.

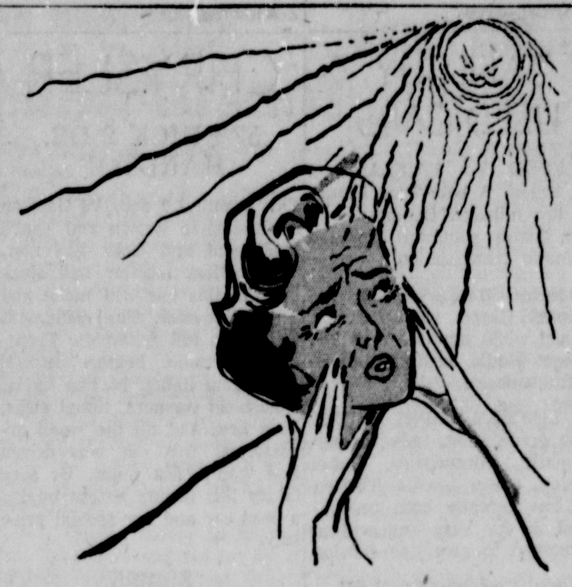

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"Bring out the basket—this looks like as good a place as we'll find for our picnic."

Pew skins ever have the same translucent quality after a deep tanning, so take it gradually.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Summerizing Your Beauty

Wrinkles are one of the strange phenomena of an aging skin. And time's unfriendly "etchings" can get more pronounced when hot sunny weather is here.

Sunshine can be most beneficial to your skin as well as to your health — not to mention your appearance. But only if it's taken in the proper amount. For instance, do you realize that just one hundred minutes of unprotected exposure can cause a painful burn which in turn involves partial destruction of the outer layers of the skin?

Painful sunburn is ruinous to the fine texture of the skin. The body will attempt to repair the damage, but against repeated attacks of overexposure it is powerless. Serious manifestations occur: coarsening and aging of the skin, causing lines and wrinkles, are the least of these.

For the body, the sun is most beneficial in as much as its rays give us Vitamin D, the vitamin so important to all of us for the assimilation of the minerals. But the secret is to tan slowly and replenish your lotion frequently. So do everything that you can to protect the beauty of your skin.

Also remember that your skin needs protection for the whole summer. A deep tan is no proof at all against a burn. To protect the mouth, always wear lipstick. Between exposures, keep your body well-lubricated. Give yourself a rub down with body oil or baby lotion after every sun bath or shower.

Drills Are Conducted By LaVale Firemen

The LaVale Volunteer Fire Company conducted fire drills last week for 13 members.

Under the direction of Chief James Loar, the group received instructions on the use of air packs, pumping water from streams and the use of booster lines.

Loar commented on the fire safety consciousness of the residents of LaVale, but asked that in time of emergency for them to be accurate on the location of the blaze when calling the fire hall.

WORK STARTS ON A-PLANT

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) —After years of planning work on West Germany's first atom power plant has begun. The plant, to be constructed at an estimated cost of 10 million dollars, will be completed by the end of this year at Khal, near Frankfurt.

Americans have far more fatal accidents in summer than in any other season.

Time For Change

STORMONT, Va. (AP) — Eddy Seward, 82, spent 41 years as a hermit in Virginia's Dragon swamp before he decided to return to civilization. Now he has decided that—maybe—it is time to get married. He drafted an advertisement for a weekly newspaper saying the wife desired shouldn't be over 50, divorced nor a "vanity woman." He said he would shave if he got married.

Diverse Opinions

PLEASANTVILLE, N. J. (AP)—Pleasantville Junior High School students thought better of the school budget than their elders.

District voters turned down two sections of the board of education budget by a 2½-1 margin.

Less than two weeks later seventh graders, in a mock election, approved the same sections by a 6-1 margin.

Assault

Police said he slammed a car door on the head of a man during an argument.

Two Men Given Hearings For Shoplifting

One of two out-of-town men who were charged with shoplifting was given 60 days in the County Jail at a hearing yesterday before Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick, the other man praying a jury trial.

According to City Detective Thomas J. See, the men were seen taking the iron and leaving the building after placing the item in a shopping bag.

Praying a jury trial, and remanded to the County Jail for the October term of court, was Louis Cox, of RD 2, Bath, N. C. Court attaches said Cox made the remark that he was "afraid" to enter a plea yesterday because he thought he would be given a six-month sentence.

A Frostburg man, Roy Lee Van Meter, was given a suspended three-month sentence by Trial Magistrate Morris Baron after pleading guilty to the theft of a tool kit on July 19 from Francis E. Kuns, also of Frostburg.

The magistrate suspended the sentence after being informed restitution had been made, and that Van Meter was in need of medical attention.

Lumber Firm Signs New Union Contract

An agreement has been reached by the Carpenters Union and Local 453, Teamsters Union, on a new contract with the Buchanan Lumber Company, according to C. E. Stutzman, Teamster Union business agent.

The pact provides for $4.25 per month increase per employe in the health and welfare coverage and also a wage increase. A number of adjustments in classifications were included which will give some workers a substantial raise in wages.

There are 25 employes covered in the contract with the Carpenters having jurisdiction over the mill men who work the machinery while the Teamsters cover the drivers, yard men and helpers.

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Dandy Blitzen Takes Inaugural At Rockingham

SALEM, N. H., July 28 (AP) — B. A. Dario's Dandy Blitzen, under a great ride by the former national champion Jockey Tony De Spirito, today won the $7,500 Inaugural Handicap in a driving nose finish as Rockingham Park began a 54-day meeting.

The three-year-old Rhode Island-bred filly broke fast from the chute, opened up a comfortable lead on the stretch turn but then had to go all out to stave off Admirals Joy, a 15-1 shot.

Zippy Gal, at 35-1, the second longest priced entry in a field of 11, was another 2¼ lengths back in third place at the end of the six furlongs.

De Spirito, who had been missing from the New Hampshire track since 1955, was completing a double on the young Daughter of Bull Dandy, having won the fifth aboard Prom Hall.

After running the distance in 1.10 3/5, over a lightning fast strip, Dandy Blitzen paid $4.00, $3.40 and $3. Admirals Joy paid $9.40 and $6. Zippy Gal returned $8.00 to show.

Dandy Blitzen Takes Inaugural At Rockingham

SALEM, N. H., July 28 (AP) — B. A. Dario's Dandy Blitzen, under a great ride by the former national champion Jockey Tony De Spirito, today won the $7,500 Inaugural Handicap in a driving nose finish as Rockingham Park began a 54-day meeting.

The three-year-old Rhode Island-bred filly broke fast from the chute, opened up a comfortable lead on the stretch turn but then had to go all out to stave off Admirals Joy, a 15-1 shot.

Zippy Gal, at 35-1, the second longest priced entry in a field of 11, was another 2¼ lengths back in third place at the end of the six furlongs.

De Spirito, who had been missing from the New Hampshire track since 1955, was completing a double on the young Daughter of Bull Dandy, having won the fifth aboard Prom Hall.

After running the distance in 1.10 3/5, over a lightning fast strip, Dandy Blitzen paid $4.00, $3.40 and $3. Admirals Joy paid $9.40 and $6. Zippy Gal returned $8.00 to show.

Driving Rain And Lightning Hit Queen City

Sticky Weather Follows Storm

Traffic was snarled throughout the city as drivers reported visibility approached zero at times.

South Cumberland Fire Company rolled at 2:20 p. m. after a bolt of lightning hit the home of Mrs. Catherine Burns, 23 New Hampshire Avenue.

The bolt apparently hit the television antenna on the home and damaged the set. The same or another bolt of lightning knocked out the telephone line.

Members of the family were at home but were not in the living room, which took the brunt of the damage. The lightning also burned out a bridge lamp and damaged a davenport.

A member of the family said several men sitting in a truck nearby reported the bolt appeared to have hit the chimney.

The thermometer dropped from 90 to 74 within a few minutes after the rainstorm hit but was back to a sticky 90 degrees before the hour was up.

Charles H. Smith, wire chief at the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephont Company, said the storm apparently caused only a slightly above normal number of lines to be knocked out. He said there were 11 of the 16,000 telephone lines in the city out of order and that most of these were in the Mapleside area.

Rain, gentle as the afternoon fall was fierce, began falling again at 10 p. m.

West Virginia Liquor Profits Hit New High

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Liquor Commission said Monday that profits for the first 11 months of the 1957-58 fiscal year amounted to $8,781,000. This exceeded by some $300,000 the apparent previous one-year high in the 1951-52 fiscal year.

A commission spokesman estimated that net profit would exceed $9,500,000 when the tabulation is completed for the entire fiscal year. The 1951-52 profit was $8,494,722.

Although there is no year-by-year tabulation in the commission's 1957 annual report of earnings from 1985 through 1950, the total was only $84,625,614.

Since that time, earnings have fallen below $7,000,000 only once, that in the 1954-55 when the commission netted $6,651,163 from the sale of alcoholic beverages in its monopoly stores and agencies throughout the state.

Profits for May were $792,684 compared to $629,625 for the corresponding month in the 1956-57 fiscal year. Sales for the first 11 months last year were $6,963,614, over $1,800,000 off the 1957-58 figure.

Police Buy Ambulance In Ridgeley

Volunteer Unit To Man Vehicle

The special volunteer police unit of Ridgeley, has purchased an ambulance which will be placed in service on August 1, Mayor Charles Fryer said last night.

The volunteer policemen sponsored a week-long carnival in Ridgeley last May to obtain the funds to purchase the 1948 Cadillac ambulance from a Cumberland funeral director.

Mayor Fryer explained that the ambulance has less than 22,000 miles of travel and its motor is in excellent shape. The vehicle was purchased for $500 plus an additional $100 to equip it with a special red signal light and to repaint it white.

The ambulance will be available for emergency calls with a standby driver and attendant on duty 24 hours a day. It will be located in the city building garage and may be reached at RE 8-9400, the Ridgeley Police Station, or by calling Mayor Fryer's home, RE 8-8988.

The special police unit which has supplemented the regular two-man police force in Ridgeley for the past two - and - one - half years has received and completed the standard 10-hour Red Cross first aid course under the instruction of Vincent P. Delagrange Sr.

The police unit is a volunteer organization which is separate from the regular police force. Under the Ridgeley town charter the mayor is granted the authority to put special policemen on duty whenever necessary.

The 10-man volunteer unit has been trained for extra police duty and sponsored the purchase of the ambulance as one of its projects.

The ambulance will be available to the Ridgeley, Carpenter's Addition and Wiley Ford areas but also will answer emergency calls elsewhere if necessary, Mayor Fryer said.

Rattlesnakes Found Near Children

A young boy and his sister who live on Valley Road escaped possible serious injury yesterday afternoon when they discovered two large rattlesnakes while playing in their yard.

The youngsters were Jeffrey, eight, and Jenifer, 10, and are children of Mr. and Mrs. Durward B. Graham.

They called their mother and older brother, Ray, 15, who killed both of the reptiles. They reported one measured 46 inches and the other was 40 inches long.

The father of the children said each one had seven rattlers and a button. One was a male and the other a female, Mr. Graham said.

Services Set For Victim Of Drowning

Funeral services for William Edward Simmons, 23 - year - old farmer who drowned in the South Branch of the Potomac River Sunday, will be held Wednesday at 11 a. m. at the Crabbottom Presbyterian Church of Blue Grass, Va.

Mr. Simmons was a native of Cherry Grove, W. Va., about 15 miles southwest of Franklin. He was drowned while swimming in the Potomac River near the Virginia-West Virginia line just a few miles from his home.

West Virginia authorities said young Simmons and a companion, Miss Ethel Fleisher of Blue Grass, were picnicking with a Sunday School group and were the first to arrive at a swimming site known as Beaver Dam.

Miss Fleisher said Simmons apparently slipped off a rock into about 15 feet of water. Neither he nor the girl could swim and when his body failed to come up she ran for help, police said.

Two members of the Sunday School group, Carl Samples and Thomas Toochman, both of Blue Grass, recovered the body and the Franklin, W. Va., fire company was summoned but was unable to revive the man with a respirator.

The mishap occurred about 5:30 p. m. EST.

Mr. Simmons was born September 18, 1934, at Cherry Grove, a son of Mrs. Hallie K. (Mauzy) Simmons with whom he resided, and the late Luther E. Simmons who died about three years ago. He also was preceded in death by a brother.

The body is at the Brown Funeral Home in Franklin but will be taken to the residence at 11 a. m. today where it will lie in state until the funeral on Wednesday. Interment will be in the Blue Grass Cemetery.

Allegany County Gets 200 Of 600 Md. Wild Turkeys

One-third of the 600 wild turkeys stocked in large woodland areas in five Maryland counties in late March and early April of this year were placed in Allegany County.

That fact is included in an article in the July issue of the Maryland Conservationist, publication of the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission. It was written by Chester M. Kerns, chief of game management for the commission.

These wild turkeys were adult birds raised at the Game and Inland Fish Department turkey farm at Belle Grove in the eastern end of Allegany County.

From the farm production of birds each summer, about 200 young hens and a few held-over gobblers are selected to form the breeding stock for the following year. Most of the hens are placed in open-top wire pens in the deep woods during the late winter mating season. Wild gobblers are attracted to these pens, fly over the fences and mate with the wing-clipped hens. During the nesting season t he eggs are removed daily by game management personnel and transported carefully to the turkey farm.

The September stocking of birds each year prior to the hunting season consists of surplus young gobblers raised during the summer season. The weights of these turkeys, according to Mr. Kerns, will average about seven pounds and they are at least 12 weeks old. Birds shot weighing from three to five pounds are from late hatches in the wild

Besides the 200 wild turkeys stocked in Allegany County, there were 150 in Garrett County and 100 in Washington County. The other 150 went to two Eastern Shore counties. One hundred were for Worcester County and 50 for Dorchester County.

Mr. Kerns explained that his department has received a number of requests to stock the wild turkey in agricultural areas of relatively small broken woodland areas. To thrive and multiply naturally, turkeys must have at least 10,000 and preferably 15,000 acres or more of almost unbroken woodland.

Openings are not objectionable in the way of limited scattered farmland, old roads, utility lines and perhaps scattered clearings made to provide winter food or woods cuttings. Numerous scattered habitations offer too much interference to the way of life for the wild turkeys. Being strictly a wilderness dweller, he shuns civilization with all its hazards.

Red Cross Committees Plan Programs

First Aid, Disaster Units Will Meet

Three important meetings of Red Cross committees will be held this week, according to Mrs. George W. Legge, executive secretary.

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock, a conference will be held in the chapter headquarters, Post Office building, by the Junior Red Cross Committee. Peggy Porter of Fort Hill High School, Becky Haines of Allegany High School, Donald McIntyre of Bruce High School, Westernport, and Phil Beeman of Beall High School, Frostburg, have been asked to report on the Junior Red Cross Conference they attended this summer and last at Hood College.

Dr. Lillian C. Compton is the board member assigned to Junior Red Cross activity and Mrs. John M. Robb and Miss Betty Flake are co-chairmen.

Thursday at 10 a.m. the Red Cross Disaster Committee will meet at the Red Cross office. Thomas B. Finan and Francis Torkington are co-chairmen of the disaster committee. Wallace Ullery, a member of the planning group, is to make a report on coordinated plans to meet emergencies and disaster. Also to attend are Mrs. Hammond Amick, and Mrs. John R. Wilkinson, co-chairmen of canteen service; Mrs. Albert List of the Gray Ladies; Mrs. Mary Etta Early of Nurses Services; Mrs. Lester Millenson of staff aides; Mrs. Holmes Cessna of Motor Corps and Robert Thwaites, first aid chairman.

Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock a meeting of all first aid instructors is scheduled. Mrs. Virginia Lasher, association president, is in charge. Guest speaker will be Lt. William E. O'Hara of the Maryland State Police. He will speak to the instructors association on "How First Aid Fits Into the Highway Accident Picture."

State Agencies Want Boost For Buildings

BALTIMORE (AP) — State agencies want 42¼ million dollars for construction from the budget the Maryland General Assembly will pass next year.

And, during the next five years, these agencies say their needs will reach $108,870,000.

The State Planning Commission came up with the figures Monday in going over requests for capital improvements by various state departments for the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

The Planning Commission will screen the proposed building programs before they go on to Gov. McKeldin and the General Assembly for further pruning.

The net effect of the staggering total will be to give the commission difficulty in holding the budget line of 13 million dollars that it fixed for itself several years ago.

The biggest single request for next year comes from the Department of Correction. It has asked almost 17 million dollars for a building program to include three new penal institutions in Maryland — as recommended by a hired consultant.

Veterans Night Set

Tonight will be Veterans Night at the annual homecoming celebration in Ridgeley. A number of new rides have also been added on the carnival grounds.

Rains Fail To Bog Down Flood Work

Flood control crews were back to work yesterday in the bed of Wills Creek and the Potomac River.

Wills Creek, he said, has been up about two feet at times and the Potomac River almost four and a half feet, but have subsided to allow work to continue.

He said none of the rains have damaged coffer dams built by contractors to keep water out of working areas. Flooding of working areas has occurred, officials said, but they filled up when not enough pumps were used to clear the working areas.

Both Hazelwood and Albrecht crews were working yesterday.

The Hazelwood firm plans to work two shifts driving piles for the foundation of the Western Maryland bridge across Wills Creek. Some 50 of the bearing piles are already in place and the work will be expedited so the bridge can be finished by cold weather.

Progress is being made by the Western Maryland Railway on laying the B&O-Western Maryland interchange tracks.

Albrecht has virtually completed his work in that area and will remove the old Interchange bridge when the new Western Maryland bridge is open.

Mystery Light Seen In Skies

A mysterious beam of light in the overcast skies above Wills Mountain caused some concern among Cumberland residents who spotted it last night about 9:30 o'clock.

The light could be seen from the north end of the city and also was spotted from the Cumberland Municipal Airport but no explanation as to its origin could be found last night.

The airport reported that three airplanes had flown low over the area about that time, apparently trying to skirt dark storm clouds hovering above, but that none reported any distress.

The Ridgeley American Legion, sponsoring a homecoming celebration there, said that no lights were being used that could cause a reflection in the dark skies.

Four Youths Found Guilty As Delinquents

Car Theft, Store Swindle Involved

Two of the youths were picked up last week by City Police for obtaining merchandise under false pretenses from downtown stores, while the other two boys were involved in the theft of an automobile.

Magistrate Fred H. Anderson placed a 16-year-old boy on probation until he was 18 and ordered him to make restitution of $7.60 to the store from which he obtained the goods.

This youth also was involved in the auto theft with the other two boys and admitted being the driver of the car which was stolen from Robert V. Chisholm, 305 Beall Street, on March 1.

The other youth, who falsely obtained goods, was placed on probation for six months by Magistrate Anderson and ordered to make restitution of $63.

A 15-year-old boy, who was one of the three involved in the auto theft, was placed on probation for nine months. The other boy in this case was placed on probation for three months.

The three boys admitted taking the car from Beall Street and driving it to Murley's Branch Road near Flintstone, where they demolished it in a wreck. They were uninjured in the crash and hitchhiked back to Cumberland.

The two boys involved in the series of swindles would find out about accounts at local stores, would then call the stores pretending to be a customer with an account and advise the management that the boys would be in later to obtain the charged merchandise.

The two-lane highway being built here will eventually became one lane of the dual highway which is part of the State Roads Commission's future plan. The program will be anticipated in the prestressed concrete bridge over Flintstone Creek, which will have a 48-foot roadway to meet future requirements.

Driving Rain And Lightning Hit Queen City

Sticky Weather Follows Storm

Monday shoppers scrambled for cover yesterday about 2 p. m. when the most violent rainstorm of the summer blew in from the northwest.

Traffic was snarled throughout the city as drivers reported visibility approached zero at times.

South Cumberland Fire Company rolled at 2:20 p. m. after a bolt of lightning hit the home of Mrs. Catherine Burns, 23 New Hampshire Avenue.

The bolt apparently hit the television antenna on the home and damaged the set. The same or another bolt of lightning knocked out the telephone line.

Members of the family were at home but were not in the living room, which took the brunt of the damage. The lightning also burned out a bridge lamp and damaged a davenport.

A member of the family said several men sitting in a truck nearby reported the bolt appeared to have hit the chimney.

The thermometer dropped from 90 to 74 within a few minutes after the rainstorm hit but was back to a sticky 90 degrees before the hour was up.

Charles H. Smith, wire chief at the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephont Company, said the storm apparently caused only a slightly above normal number of lines to be knocked out. He said there were 11 of the 16,000 telephone lines in the city out of order and that most of these were in the Mapleside area.

Rain, gentle as the afternoon fall was fierce, began falling again at 10 p. m.

West Virginia Liquor Profits Hit New High

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Liquor Commission said Monday that profits for the first 11 months of the 1957-58 fiscal year amounted to $8,781,000. This exceeded by some $300,000 the apparent previous one-year high in the 1951-52 fiscal year.

A commission spokesman estimated that net profit would exceed $9,500,000 when the tabulation is completed for the entire fiscal year. The 1951-52 profit was $8,494,722.

Although there is no year-by-year tabulation in the commission's 1957 annual report of earnings from 1985 through 1950, the total was only $84,625,614.

Since that time, earnings have fallen below $7,000,000 only once, that in the 1954-55 when the commission netted $6,651,163 from the sale of alcoholic beverages in its monopoly stores and agencies throughout the state.

Profits for May were $792,684 compared to $629,625 for the corpresponding month in the 1956-57 fiscal year. Sales for the first 11 months last year were $6,963,614, over $1,800,000 off the 1957-58 figure.

Volunteer Unit To Man Vehicle

The special volunteer police unit of Ridgeley, has purchased an ambulance which will be placed in service on August 1, Mayor Charles Fryer said last night.

The volunteer policemen sponsored a week-long carnival in Ridgeley last May to obtain the funds to purchase the 1948 Cadillac ambulance from a Cumberland funeral director.

Mayor Fryer explained that the ambulance has less than 22,000 miles of travel and its motor is in excellent shape. The vehicle was purchased for $500 plus an additional $100 to equip it with a special red signal light and to repaint it white.

The ambulance will be available for emergency calls with a standby driver and attendant on duty 24 hours a day. It will be located in the city building garage and may be reached at RE 8-9400, the Ridgeley Police Station, or by calling Mayor Fryer's home, RE 8-8988.

The special police unit which has supplemented the regular two-man police force in Ridgeley for the past two - and - one - half years has received and completed the standard 10-hour Red Cross first aid course under the instruction of Vincent P. Delagrange Sr.

The police unit is a volunteer organization which is separate from the regular police force. Under the Ridgeley town charter the mayor is granted the authority to put special policemen on duty whenever necessary.

The 10-man volunteer unit has been trained for extra police duty and sponsored the purchase of the ambulance as one of its projects.

The ambulance will be available to the Ridgeley, Carpenter's Addition and Wiley Ford areas but also will answer emergency calls elsewhere if necessary, Mayor Fryer said.

Flood control crews were back to work yesterday in the bed of Wills Creek and the Potomac River.

Rex E .Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers, said the streams have been little affected by the almost daily rains.

Wills Creek, he said, has been up about two feet at times and the Potomac River almost four and a half feet, but have subsided to allow work to continue.

He said none of the rains have damaged coffer dams built by contractors to keep water out of working areas. Flooding of working areas has occurred, officials said, but they filled up when not enough pumps were used to clear the working areas.

Both Hazelwood and Albrecht crews were working yesterday.

The Hazelwood firm plans to work two shifts driving piles for the foundation of the Western Maryland bridge across Wills Creek. Some 50 of the bearing piles are already in place and the work will be expedited so the bridge can be finished by cold weather.

Upstream, Albrecht crews were pouring concrete in several areas.

Progress is being made by the Western Maryland Railway on laying the B&O-Western Maryland interchange tracks.

Albrecht has virtually completed his work in that area and will remove the old Interchange bridge when the new Western Maryland bridge is open.

Mystery Light Seen In Skies

A mysterious beam of light in the overcast skies above Wills Mountain caused some concern among Cumberland residents who spotted it last night about 9:30 o'clock.

The light could be seen from the north end of the city and also was spotted from the Cumberland Municipal Airport but no explanation as to its origin could be found last night.

The airport reported that three airplanes had flown low over the area about that time, apparently trying to skirt dark storm clouds hovering above, but that none reported any distress.

The Ridgeley American Legion, sponsoring a homecoming celebration there, said that no lights were being used that could cause a reflection in the dark skies.

Car Theft, Store Swindle Involved

Four local youths were found guilty of being delinquent minors at hearings yesterday morning in Juvenile Court.

Two of the youths were picked up last week by City Police for obtaining merchandise under false pretenses from downtown stores, while the other two boys were involved in the theft of an automobile.

Magistrate Fred H. Anderson placed a 16-year-old boy on probation until he was 18 and ordered him to make restitution of $7.60 to the store from which he obtained the goods.

This youth also was involved in the auto theft with the other two boys and admitted being the driver of the car which was stolen from Robert V. Chisholm, 305 Beall Street, on March 1.

The other youth, who falsely obtained goods, was placed on probation for six months by Magistrate Anderson and ordered to make restitution of $63.

A 15-year-old boy, who was one of the three involved in the auto theft, was placed on probation for nine months. The other boy in this case was placed on probation for three months.

Magistrate Anderson also ordered the four youths to discontinue their association with each other.

The three boys admitted taking the car from Beall Street and driving it to Murley's Branch Road near Flintstone, where they demolished it in a wreck. They were uninjured in the crash and hitchhiked back to Cumberland.

The two boys involved in the series of swindles would find out about accounts at local stores, would then call the stores pretending to be a customer with an account and advise the management that the boys would be in later to obtain the charged merchandise.

Flintstone Bypass Job Begins

The area being leveled here by the George F. Hazelwood Construction Company will become part of the Flintstone Bypass route which will link the completed sections of the Martin Mountain and Polish Mountain projects on U. S. Route 40. The 2.353 mile section of modern highway will cost about $1,071,527 and will bypass and go slightly north of Flintstone, which can be seen in the background. The two-lane highway being built here will eventually became one lane of the dual highway which is part of the State Roads Commission's future plan. The program will be anticipated in the prestressed concrete bridge over Flintstone Creek, which will have a 48-foot roadway to meet future requirements.
